Britain's First Atomic Weapon Exploded Off Australian Coast

Expert From Canada Director's Chief Aide

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 3 (Friday) (Reuters).—Britain's first atomic weapon was successfully exploded at 8 a.m. today (2.30 p.m. P.S.T. Thursday) in the Monte Bello Islands, 85 miles northwest of Australia.

Observers reported that they felt no ground shock wave but a heavy air pressure pulse smacked the Australian Mainland points nearest the test islands, four minutes 15 seconds after the flash.

At the same time newspaper men heard a report like a crack of thunder which was followed by a prolonged rumble like a train going through a tunnel.

The air and the sound shock were sufficently intense to make them feel a slight pain in the ears, they reported.

It was Britain's first major atomic explosion, making her the third country in the world known to have a working atomic weapon.

The big blast came more than seven years after the fateful day in July 1945 on which the United States exploded its first atomic bomb in the New Mexico desert.

In the interval, the U.S. dropped two A-bombs in wartime and conducted a series of atomic weapon tests at proving grounds in the Pacific and the United States. Atomic explosions also occurred in Russia.

Britain's test was conducted in utmost secrecy. An area of some 23,500 square miles around the bleak Mnote Bello Islands was declared a restricted zone last May. Movements of equipment and personnel during the weeks leading up to the test were veiled by strict censorship.

Commander of the Monte Bello operation was Rear Admiral David Torlesse, 50, director of air equipment for the British admiralty from 1946 to 1948.

Scientific director was Dr William George Penney, 43, since 1946 chief superintendent of armament research at the British Ministry of Supply.

His closest associate was Dr. O. M. Solandt, 43-year-old Canadian guided missiles expert.

Official announcement of the detonation was made in Australia by Defense Minister Philip McBride.

(In London, the announcement was made by the Admiralty on the authority of Prima Minister Churchill.)

Supply Minister Duncan Sandys said.

"The atomic weapon having been successfully exploded, the immediate task of the expedition at Monte Bello is to assemble all the technical recordings and other data with a view to analyzing the results of the test.

"It is to be hoped that Dr. Penney and Admiral Torlesse, who have been in charge of the expedition, will be able to return to London in about two weeks' time to make their report.

"When this is received the government will consider what further information can be made public.

"Meanwhile no further details about the explosion will be issued."

The explosion seemed to bear out conjecture that British scientists aimed primarily at developing a tactical atomic weapon rather than produce a superbomb.

Probably today's detonation involved the use of an improved priming and exploding device. Indications that today's blast was of a comparatively small nature were given by the appearanre of the flash and its initial cloud.

Britain's atomic program has been helped considerably both to know-how and materially by her Commonwealth partners.

Canada is a major source of uranium—the stuff that gives atom bombs their force.

Pictured above is the desolate site of Britain's atomic weapon explosion, set off Thursday afternoon (Pacific time) with witnesses established on a mountain-top 65 miles away. This is Hermite Island, southernmost of the Monte Bello Islands and believed to have held the trigger-tower for the blast.

Flash Matches Rising Sun

BY LIONEL HUDSON

ONSLOW, Australia, Oct 3 (Friday) (Reuters)—With a flash matching the sun rising over the Monte Bello Islands, Britain today became the third country in the world to have mastered the atom for war or peace.

At 8 a.m. this morning from a mountain observation post on this desolate coast, I saw the fiery glow which marked the explosion of Britain's first atomic weapon.

Then, across some 65 miles of water from the island test site came the air shock wave smacking into the mainland at the speed of sound. At the same instant I was deafened by a thunder crash as the noise of the blast arrived.

DUMMY CITY

The weapon appeared to have been set off from a tower on Hermite Island, southernmost atoll in the Monte Bellos. A dummy "target city" is believed to have been set up in the centre of the sand-and-shale test range.

From my lookout point I saw the cloud forming after the blast a ragged thunderhead unlike the familiar mushroom shape of the United States tests.

The top of the cloud rocketed skyward, reaching more than a mile in a minute and continuing upward to 12,000 feet. Around the base a dust-like mass eddied and drifted upward.

A brisk wind broke up the smoke column quickly, bulging it out to a mile in diameter. At the top hung a grotesque "Z"-shaped formation.

NEAREST BLAST

I was the correspondent nearest to the blast. I waited through the night at a post some 250 feet high in this chain of rugged hills running along the northwest coast on the edge of the prohibited atomic zone.

A dawn test had been expected and the first couple of hours after daylight broke were tense. Then came the flash, followed in four minutes, 15 seconds by the shock and sound waves.

The test ended two years of secret preparations on the Monte Bellos, plus years of research in the laboratory.

Brooklyn's Line-Up Alters To Meet Lopat

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (Friday) (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' line-up was changed today as the New York Yankees tossed southpaw Eddie Lopat at the National League champions

Carl Furillo, who went hitless up from eighth place to the lead-off position. Billy Cox, also hitless in both games, will drop from the lead-off spot to eighth.

Roy Campanella will move up from fifth to the clean-up spot and Jackie Robinson from fourth to third.

Venerable Preacher Roe will pitch.

The Brooks' probable line-up for the third game: Furillo, rf; Reese, ss, Robinson, 2b; Campanella, c; Pafko, lf; Hodges 1b; Snider, cf; Cox, 3b and Roe, p.

Casey Stengel hasn't announced his starting line-up and it is doubtful if he'll decide until shortly before game time. The Yankee manager already has used over 100 different line-ups this season.

Pottery Plan Put Forward

A practical use for pottery commemorating the coronation was suggested by Ald. Waldo Skillings yesterday after a query by an English firm asking the city to buy some of the pottery articles.

"Why not buy a couple of dozen," he said. "Then instead of throwing words around in council we can start heaving pottery."

Motorboat Death Case Brings Term

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Oct. 2 (CP)—Sentence of 20 years in prison was passed today on Francois Peter Dennis, fisherman and hunter, for killing a man in a fight in which a motorboat was the death weapon.

In sentencing Dennis for manslaughter, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson said the case was "as little short of murder as any in my experience."

Dennis, 39, originally was charged with murder in the slaying of William Austin, 59, but an assize court jury convicted him on the reduced charge.

The 20-year term was the heaviest imposed at the fall assizes here

Austin, a bush country guide, was killed August 2 on Stuart Lake, 75 miles northwest of here in the wilderness Babine region, following a home-brew party with Dennis and several other persons.

Austin's widow and son testified that Dennis followed Austin when he put out into Stuart Lake in his boat.

They said Dennis rammed the boat with his craft, grabbed Austin, tossed him into the water, gunned his own boat and ran over the guide, whose body was recovered the next day.

$10,000,000 To Be Sought For Completion of P.G.E.

BY T. A. MYERS

The provincial legislature next spring will be asked to provide $10,000,000 for the long-awaited extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Squamish into Vancouver

The Social Credit government is determined to go ahead with the extension. It has not yet settled on the route

Best bet, however, is a coastal route which would bring the line from Squamish, on Howe Sound, along the shoreline for 40 miles to a terminus in North Vancouver.

This is the route favored by Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd, who for 10 years was a public relations man for the provincially-owned P.G.E.

Mr. Chetwynd feels the need for action on the southern extension at the line is urgent. The central and northern stretches of the railway are bringing in so much business that the P.G.E. "navy"—the barge fleet which now carries freight between Squamish and Vancouver—can't keep pace.

TIDYING UP

At the moment, workmen are putting finishing coats of paint on bridges and generaly tidying up in preparation for an inaugural run over the new northern extension of the line from Quesnel to Prince George.

The inaugural run will be made in about two weeks. A few freight trains will operate over the new line this winter, but passenger service will not begin until railway stations and other line buildings are completed next spring

This new 80-mile section is expected to bring in more business for the P.G.E., which last year made the first operating profit in its history.

Burgeoning industrial developments all along the line, plus increased passenger traffic, have filled Mr. Chetwynd with optimism for the future of the line. He is sure the P.G.E., into which previous governments have poured millions and millions of dollars, can soon become a real money-maker.

DEPENDS ON LINK

This bright future depends on the Squamish-Vancouver rail link to replace the over-burdened barge service, he says.

Operating costs are higher under the present system. It costs the P.G.E. three to four times as much to barge a freight car from Squamish to Vancouver as it would to pull the car in on rails.

The rail link would speed up service, which in turn would mean more passenger traffic.

The rail link would cost a lot of money—an estimated $10,000,000—but it would eventually mean a saving to the P.G.E. As business builds up, the P.G.E. would have to increase the size of its navy. New barges and badly-needed dock facilities at both Squamish and Vancouver would mean a capital expenditure of $4,000,000, Mr. Chetwynd estimates.

"Besides that, there's a million dollars worth of business a year to be picked up between Squamish and Vancouver," he said. The P.G.E. could expect to get the Britannia Mines' freight business, plus mail and passenger revenue.

EQUIPMENT SAVING

The P.G.E. would also save millions of dollars on rolling stock, Mr. Chetwynd said.

The completed P.G.E. would act as a feeder service for the trans-continental railways, bringing goods and produce from the Interior to connect with the big lines in Vancouver.

"These other railways would be happy to put their own flatcars and boxcars on our lines, for the sake of getting this freight for the long haul east," Mr. Chetwynd said. "They would also put their own men into the north drumming up business. Then we could just shuttle back and forth at good profit."

Thus the P.G.E., for 40 years a ridiculed white elephant, might at last become a gravy train.

Grain Firm Buys Elevator

Sold to the highest bidder, Hallet and Carey (B.C.) Ltd., for $202,500, 24-year-old Ogden Point "white elephant" leaves city's hands. Thousands of bushels of corn are still stored in elevators by Kerr Gifford Ltd., present lessees and unsuccessful bidders.

City Sells 'White Elephant' For Half of Sum Still Owed

Victoria's 24-year-old "white elephant," the Ogden Point grain elevator, has been sold for $202,500.

Buyer is Hallet & Carey (B.C.) Ltd., Vancouver subsidiary of a Winnipeg grain firm.

City council sat briefly yesterday to consider offers on the building. Two were received, the other coming from the present lessee, Kerr Gifford Ltd., Portland grain company, for $201,551.

Early in September city council voted to ask for firm offers on the elevators and set September 30 as the deadline.

Previously the lands committee and city manager Cecil Wyatt had agreed to grant Kerr Gifford a $150,000 option on the property along with a year's lease at an increased rent. The company had been paying $1,000 a month and was asked to pay $1,250.

When the lands committee proposal came to council, Mayor Claude Harrison blocked it, asking council to call for bids as he felt the building was worth much more than $150,000.

He said yesterday that while he felt the property was worth still more, the offer was a good one under present circumstances.

"We saved ourselves $52,000 by waiting a few weeks. It just shows—in important things never hurry," he said.

While the sale is considered a feather in the city's cap, many officials feel it is only partial redemption of the original blunder of taking on the elevator in the first place.

The city still owes $434,917 on the debt including principal and interest. If the sale price is applied directly to the debt, $232,417 still remains to be paid off.

In 1927 the city took over the debenture debt of the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Ltd. by an issue of $508,000, which was to be paid off in 1953. The Refunding Act in the early 30's, however, extended the debt to 1975.

The city pays an average of $18,900 a year on the $434,917 debt.

Cell Block Wrecked During Oakalla Riot

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP)—A secret signal, flashed from a prison compound, today started a 2½-hour riot at suburban Oakalla prison farm.

No one was injured, but it left in its wake a wrecked cell block with all the windows of the three-story buildings smashed and furniture twisted and torn from the floor.

Two guards held hostage were released without injury. They were in the block when the riot started.

Police and guards used tear gas bombs and firemen poured streams of water into the building before the rioters called it quits.

Unlike most prison riots, the cause was not food, but overcrowding in the cell block.

A second bunk was placed in all cells of the prison during the morning. The prisoners had protested, wanting a one-man-to-a-cell program

NO ALTERNATIVE

"The trouble arose over an order I gave allotting two men to a cell," said 35-year-old warden Hugh Christie. We have nearly 800 prisoners and only 400 cells, so there was no alternative."

Less than 100 of the 800 prisoners staged the riot.

It started in the east block of the big prison building and then spread to the south cell block.

A general alarm was sounded and R.C.M.P., firemen, ambulances and an inhalator wagon raced to the prison. Later, reinforcements were called from all suburban districts in Greater Vancouver.

Many to Sleep on Floor

'Warden's Court' Orders Paddling

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP)—"Immediate and decisive" disciplinary action—including use of the paddle—has been taken against about 45 prisoners involved in today's riot at Oakalla prison farm, Warden Hugh Christie announced tonight.

The warden said about 100 prisoners were in the wing wrecked during the 2½-hour riot but that less than half that number were actively involved.

A "warden's court," held immediately after order was restored, meted out the punishment which included the paddle for some and loss of good behavior time for others. A number of the prisoners got off with reprimands.

The number of prisoners given the paddle was not divulged. The paddle involves being whipped across the bare backside with a long leather strap

The warden said the riot couldn't have been more futile.

NO CONCESSIONS

Subdued instead of being coaxed into surrender, the prisoners won no concessions, he said. And, what's more, most of the men aren't going to sleep too well tonight. Those who smashed their beds, and many of them did, will have to sleep on the floor.

Warden Christie said he spoke to the rioters twice during their holdout—once on the telephone and once through a window.

But he said he refused to bargain, explaining: "The minute I started to make any concessions I would no longer be in charge of the prison."

He said the prisoners' complaints were that they had to share cells—the prison is overcrowded—and they also wanted longer recreation periods.

The warden could give no estimate of damage, although it is presumed to run into thousands of dollars

Deputy Rails Minister Loses Government Post

Percy Richards has been relieved of his duties as deputy minister of railways, it was learned yesterday.

Mr. Richards was executive assistant to former premiers John Hart and Byron Johnson. He was appointed deputy minister of railways in one of the final acts of the last Liberal government.

Mr. Richards, however, has never actually functioned in his new capacity. Since August 1, when the new Social Credit government took over, he has been on holidays and leave of absence.

He will return to duty, in a new position, in another month or two.

Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd said yesterday Mr. Richards' removal from office had nothing to do with the fact that his appointment had been made by a previous government.

NEEDS TECHNICAL MAN

"I needed a technical man in the deputy's post," Mr. Chetwynd said. "Mr. Richards is not a technical man."

Until Mr. Richards' appointment, there had been no deputy minister of railways for five years. The deputy's work was done mostly by J. M. Stewart, chief engineer of the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Shortly after the new government took office, it elevated [illegible] C. Broadbend to assistant deputy minister of railways from chief draftsman for the department. Mr. Broadbend is now functioning as deputy minister and probably will be given the title, as well as the work, when Mr. Richards is transferred later this year to another department.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

The government has not yet decided what to do with Mr. Richards. At the moment it is considering making him head of a new public relations branch, which would centralize and co-ordinate all government publicity and public relations work.

This new office probably would not rank as a full-scale department with a minister and deputy minister at the top. It would probably be set up as a branch of the trade and industry department.

Thus Mr. Richards would continue to work for the same minister. Railways Minister Chetwynd is also minister of trade and industry.

They're Backing Drive

With the Red Feather campaign extended beyond original week schedule so the much-needed quota of $195,000 may be collected, Billy Martin, 6, left, of 504 Toronto Street, and Jamie O'Rourke, 4, make an appeal on behalf of youngsters they have been told are homeless and in need. Their suggestion is you dig down to put the fund over the top. A total of 17 welfare and recreational services answering the need of adults and children will require a minimum of $200,000 to answer the many requests for aid and comfort they know will be made to this community in the coming year.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A MOVIE is now a long list of names with a few pictures at the end.

Before a film-goer can stare at Grable or emote with Tracy and Hepburn, he must be introduced against his will to [illegible] Q. Kaffendorfer, Montmorency Smug and Einstein McClockety, to name only a few.

Acting on the theory that names make news, Hollywood not only tells you who acted in the picture and who produced and directed it, but also lists the names of the camera mechanic, the carpenters, the girl who makes a noise like an elephant by blowing into a tomato sauce bottle, and a janitor who wandered into the studio by mistake.

The modern passion for names is a good thing in a way. It relieves people of the idea that a couple of stars tossed off the production in their spare time with a home movie set and a few helpers off the street.

The list of credits reminds us that movies are made by a team—a fair reminder except for the fact that the team has 911 players whose collected names resemble the roll of guests at a United Nations cocktail party.

If everyone who helps make a movie successful is to be recognized, people in the audience will be wanting their names on the credit list, too.

Credits are not confined to the movies. Bank tellers and airline pilots and hostesses have little signs to inform the people who they are.

Soon bus drivers and milkmen may demand to have their names in lights. Restaurants may list their casts, with chefs getting top billing and waiters quitting in a huff because the cashier's name is printed above theirs. People who write the notices on hotel room walls may demand a by-line.

Politician's speeches will carry a preamble:

"Delivery by Tom Spellbinder; script by Jonathan Hack; ideas by Ward Heeler; jokes by Joe Miller."

Every newspaper story will carry credits as follows:

"Story by Hugh Nimbus. Chief headwriter, Bill Smith. Picture production by Deep Downer. Engraver, Homer Fairchild. Make-up by Willie Wetproof. Stereotype engineer, Bertrand Pickdown.

Persons and places mentioned in this article are purely coincidental and accidental. Accuracy is not guaranteed. Opinions expressed are not those of the writer or of this newspaper. In fact, nobody will acknowledge them. The headline is not a part of the article, and if you don't like it, you know what to do."

Parks Seeking $9,500 For Building Projects

The parks committee will ask city council for about $9,500 out of contingencies for capital expenditures in city parks not provided for in the 1952 budget.

Largest item proposed, a men's dressing room at Stevenson Memorial Park will cost $3,600. Another $3,000 is needed to build dressing rooms at Central Park playing field. The plans do not include showers or heating facilities.

About $2,000 will go toward cost of grading Topaz Park, proposed as a playing ground. The area is at present unimproved.

Also included in the $9,500 request will be $900 to move a building from Macdonald Park to provide toilets and dressing rooms at James Bay playground.

Claim of $1,171 Awarded In Lawsuit Against City

A claim of $1,171 has been awarded against the city in favor of Norman Laverdure, 11, who last year seriously injured his arm in a fall into a ditch.

In addition, the city will be required to pay costs of $435, bringing the total cost to the city to $1,606.

The accident occurred in a vacant lot on Hillside Avenue across which city workmen had dug a seven-foot-deep ditch. The court ruled that the city was negligent in failing to provide barriers or at least warning signs. The lot was used as a playground by neighborhood children.

A city doctor said the boy may have a stiff arm for life.

The finance committee yesterday authorized payment of the claim out of the contingency fund.

Korean Island Population Mostly Women

An island off Korea where 70 per cent of the population is women, who do most of the work was the subject of an address by Reginald Bowering to the Optimist Club yesterday.

A provincial health engineer for B.C. now, Mr. Bowering spent some time working in Korea with the World Health Organization.

He said that Cheju, U.N. prison island, goes in mostly for fishing in normal times, and that there are 4,000 licensed women divers on the island.

Roughly similar in shape to Vancouver Island, he told the Optimists, Cheju has about 120 miles of road around its perimeter.

He said that recent riots and guerrilla warfare have kept U.N. military police busy 24 hours a day.

Child Sets Fire, Damage Severe

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Oct. 2 (AP)—Five buildings were badly damaged and 22 occupants imperilled Wednesday by a three-alarm fire which police said a seven-year-old boy admitted setting. Seven elderly persons were rescued and several firemen injured in fighting the flames, which destroyed two tenement houses and damaged another, in addition to a small hotel and a furniture store.

Radio's outstanding network show, The Voice of Firestone, returns to the air tonight and will be heard over the Trans-Canada network on Friday evenings. The program is noted for its high musical quality and features Howard Barlow and his concert orchestra, chorus and world-famous guest artists. Tonight's soloist will be Roberta Peters, star of opera, radio and television. Locally the Voice of Firestone can be heard over CBU at 6.30 p.m.

Mr. Harvey S. Firestone Jr., Chairman, Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., will deliver a special message on behalf of the Community Chest on this evening's program.

Coal Coppers Pay Court Costs

NANAIMO, Oct. 2.—Digging coal on an outcrop of the White Rapids Mine brought suspended sentences to two men in Nanaimo police court Thursday.

Thomas Ryn and O. R. Larson were assessed court costs and ordered to post bonds of $100. They were charged with theft of coal.

The White Rapids Mine has not been operating and the men claimed that the coal company should confine its property by gate, fence or signs. Larson said he was guilty of being on the premises but denied taking coal.

William M. Frew, district superintendent of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., said coal rights belonged to the Canadian Collieries and no one had been granted permission to take coal. He said it was not custom to have signs at coal outcroppings.

He declared that Ryn had taken 400 pounds of coal and that Larson was in the act of starting but had not taken any coal.

Stalin Predicts War, But Not for Russia

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (AP). — Joseph Stalin, in a long message to Communists published today, pictures war as inevitable among the capitalist countries. He asserts one has to believe in miracles to think Japan and Germany will not "break out of in an effort to smash the United States.

At the same time, he pictures Communist countries as growing stronger. Soon, he says, they can cease importing goods and export surplus merchandise.

Stalin made his views known in a 50-page article in the magazine Bolshevik. The publication came three days before the convening of an historic Soviet Communist Party congress—an event expected to result in new disclosures of Communist policy.

Among the points Stalin put forward in the article, entitled "Economic problems of socialism in the U.S.S.R.," were:

1. War between the capitalist countries is inevitable and the only way this can be changed is to destroy 'imperialism." (The Communists say imperialism is the final state of capitalism.)

2. The capitalist countries are not likely to make war against Russia because they realize this would mean the destruction of capitalism.

3. The world (Communist) peace campaign can result at best only in a temporary peace since it is not aimed at the overthrow of capitalism and the establishment of socialism.

4. Economic blockade by the west of Russia and associated Communist countries has resulted in these latter countries' rapid industrial development to the point where they can expect to begin marketing surpluses.

Stalin said at the outset he was correcting the mistakes of Com-little likelihood of conflicts between capitalist countries—on the ground that the U.S. had made satellites out of them.

Persons who take that view, he added, are just looking at external appearances. It is incorrect to think, he said, that a situation in which the U.S. has Japan and Western Europe on rations, obediently carrying out American orders, "can be maintained for eternity."

It should not be taken for granted, Stalin said, that these nations and he also mentioned West Germany, Britain, France and Italy—"will not eventually try to break out of American bondage and set out on a path of independent development."

Stalin asked:

"Would it not be more true to say that capitalistic England and on her heels, capitalistic France will finally be forced to struggle free of the embrace of the United States and risk conflict with the U.S.A. in order to secure for themselves an independent position and of course, high profits?"

Rate Judgment Reserved

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP).—The Board of Transport Commissioners reserved judgment late today on a railway application for $3,000,000-a-year increases on western traffic in grain heading for domestic markets.

Four days of evidence and argument concluded with the railways asking for the full amount of the proposed hoists—between 55 and 58 per cent—and opposing western governments urging that the increases either be turned down or modified.

Among spokesmen for the four western provinces, British Columbia counsel conceded that, if the board decides the rates are too low, it will not object to increasing them "somewhat." But the board should develop a scale of its own, as the one proposed by the railways had the heaviest increases on the long-haul traffic important to B.C.

B.C. counsel C. W. Brazier also took a relatively non-committal attitude on a claim that one part of the rate-increase proposal would be illegal.

Gale-Like Winds Sweep Alberta

EDMONTON, Oct. 2 (CP) — Gale-like winds sometimes reaching a velocity of almost 80 miles an hour swept central and southern Alberta today, leaving a trail of broken power lines and other minor damage.

In Edmonton, a 30-minute windstorm caused three small fires, broke several windows and knocked over several power poles. It ripped down part of a ball park fence and blew in sections of the walls of a newly-built curling club. The winds gusted up to 78 miles an hour.

Underwater Camera Discloses Lake Life

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (CP) — In an experiment never before tried in North America, Canadian fisheries experts are viewing the underwater mysteries of an Alberta lake from the deck comfort of a specially fitted motor launch.

Their equipment: a newly-developed underwater television camera.

The resources department said today scientists of its wildlife services are testing the new camera for underwater fisheries investigation in Lake Minnewanka in Banff National Park.

The camera, encased in a watertight steel compartment, reflects what it sees on a "scope" on the boat deck and has already been successfully used to depths of 100 feet.

Developed under the direction of W. T. Torrington of the National Research Council after three years of intensive work, it was first tested in Lake Ontario last year.

Research scientists said it could also be useful in salvage and other underwater operations.

So far only one prototype has been built. This one is at Lake Minnewanka where Mr. Torrington is directing its use and government wildlife men J. P. Cuerrier and F. H. Schultz are making lake bottom biological observations never before possible.

The investigations are being carried out from a 30-foot converted R.C.A.F. motor launch. The camera's casing is mounted with four spotlights to illuminate the gloom of the lake bottom.

The department said in tests so far the operator has been able to see the lake bottom "as if he was actually standing on it."

Rattler Killed On Mainland

Mrs. Lorena phoned police who drove the snake onto a road and beat it to death.

Hunting Trio Missing In Alberta

EDMONTON, Oct. 2 (CP) — Three Edmonton men have been reported missing more than 48 hours on a duck hunting trip east of here, and their boat has been found washed ashore.

The men missing are J. Harvey Watt, 41, a transit system motorman, Larry Jones, 17, a student, and Eddie Bell, 39, a service station attendant.

The trio left Edmonton Tuesday morning for Hastings Lake, 38 miles east of the city, and were to have returned the same night.

A farmer yesterday reported to R.C.M.P. that he had seen a boat with three men go out on the lake and fail to return. A search of the area yesterday located the boat washed ashore, and the party's retriever dogs sitting by the parked car near the lake.

Today an R.C.M.P. aircraft flew over the lake, but found no sign of the three hunters. Dragging operations are expected to commence shortly.

Mrs. Grace Watt, wife of one of the men, said she was not anxious when her husband did not return Tuesday. She said Mr. Watt is "a great hunter and often stays an extra day when he finds a good duck shoot."

Mrs. Watt said all three men were capable swimmers.

Party Picks Candidate

SALMON ARM, B.C., Oct. 2 (CP)—W. J. Thompson tonight became the first candidate nominated by any party for a new general election in British Columbia when he was endorsed at a C.C.F. meeting here.

An unsuccessful candidate in the June 12 provincial election, the former reeve of Salmon Arm will contest Salmon Arm riding when an election is called.

C.C.F. leader Harold Winch addressed the meeting and described as "fantastic" a Social Credit suggestion that the other parties should not oppose Socred cabinet ministers in by-elections necessary to give them a seat in the Legislature.

Britons' Tea Unrationed From Sunday

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Britain's favorite drink—tea—comes off the ration Sunday after 12 years.

Food Minister Geoffrey Lloyd George announced today that price controls on tea will be Britons drink far more tea than beer. They like it hot, sweet and strong. The current ration has been three ounces. Under rationing Britons reduced consumption by one pound per head to the present 8.3 pounds a year.

Prices are not expected to rise when price controls end. There is a world surplus of tea now, and some Indian plantations may have to go out of business if Britain—just about the world's biggest consumer—does not buy more.

U.S. Will Export Undesirables

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP) Attorney-General James McGranery said today the justice department is rounding up some 100 underworld big shots and other undesirable characters with the aim of deporting them from the United States.

McGranery announced the drive proceedings were started against six reputed racketeers in the last week.

The campaign, he said, is directed primarily against aliens and naturalized Americans who have engaged in organized crime. But it is also intended to rid the U.S. of other persons regarded by the justice department as objectionable.

A formal statement outlining the attorney-general's views on "ungrateful recipients of American hospitality" mentioned in the same paragraph Frank Costello, New York gambling czar, and Charles Chaplin of the movies, a British subject.

Chaplin now is abroad, and his re-entry into the U.S. will be made the subject of immigration hearings.

Answering numerous questions about the Chaplin case, the attorney-general said:

"If what has been said about him is true, he is in my judgment an unsavory character."

Cutting the Loss

THE unanimous decision of the city council yesterday to sell the publicly-owned grain elevator at Ogden Point to the highest bidder, after a final call for bids had led to two closely matched offers, is at last a concrete step to cut city losses in connection with the ill-starred venture. After the purchase price of $202,500 is deducted from the sum of $434,917 outstanding in principal and interest owing on the guaranteed debentures of the former Panama Pacific Grain Terminals, Ltd., there will still be a debt of $232,417 on the city's books. On the other hand this property will now return to the tax roll, the principal and interest sums still owing will be in time paid off, and the city will be out of the grain-handling business.

It may be argued that the city has been something less than generous with the present lessees, a Portland firm whose rental of the elevator has supplied the only recent income the structure has brought the corporation. This firm bid within $950 of the cash offer that was accepted from the successful bidder. That price, however, was itself some $50,000 in excess of the option that had been sought on the premises, and that much above what would have been the settlement if the city had yielded to an option deal. As matters stand, the city accepted the highest bid after a public and final call for offers, and in this instance has Mayor Harrison to thank for having made this last successful try. The purchase price of $202,500, and the resumption of normal taxes will eventually work off the city's elevator debt, and finis can be written then to the unlucky venture.

A good many years have passed since the city gave the initial bond guarantee, and some residents today do not know the antecedents of the matter. The elevator was part of a 10-point program recommended by a highly experienced port engineer to meet an opportunity then present for a partial-cargo export grain business on Canadian and American vessels loading upstream. Other parts of the program, with the single other exception of the cold storage plant, were not implemented. Nobody in Victoria, or in British Columbia for that matter, did enter the grain export business, or put up money to found a coast cash grain market. In effect, and with trifling exceptions, no grain came this way. The founding company went into a receivership, leaving the city as the main guarantor of the elevator bonds. That is all water over the dam now, but its lesson is one that Victoria will remember while the remaining debt is unpaid.

Jack Horners in Office

UNCTUOUS protestations of moral and political rectitude which members of Mr. Bennett's Social Credit government are given to uttering at every public appearance are becoming just a little bit sickening. Their somewhat childish self-praise might be easier to bear if it were not for the fact that along with it go occasional nasty, even vicious, imputations against the character and diligence of those who preceded them in office.

For example, at a meeting this week the minister of municipal affairs, Mr. W. D. Black, reportedly made the following sweeping statement: "When we first went into the House (sic) all did not smell well. To say that we have had an honest government is one of the greatest misuses of the word 'honest' I have ever heard."

Does Mr. Black, as a responsible minister of the Crown, fully appreciate the seriousness of what he is saying? His statement is a plain accusation of dishonesty; and no person, least of all one who has taken the oath of public office, should make such an allegation unless he is fully prepared to substantiate it. Men have been called to the bar of the House for less serious calumnies than that. One may make some allowance for inexperience, but not for loose and slanderous statements impugning the integrity of public officials, unsupported by a vestige of proof.

During the same meeting Mr. Black made another puerile remark of self-commendation unworthy of notice but for its implied sneer at the working habits of former cabinet ministers. "It has come as a shock to some of the deputy ministers," he said, "to see ministers arriving at their offices at 8.30 in the morning." If deputies were permitted comment on that, it would more likely be, "What detained you?" Mr. Black apparently hasn't bothered to inquire into the office hours kept by his predecessors. Some of them were at their desks long before 8.30, and remained there hours after all but the janitors had gone home, prematurely aging themselves with overwork, for which they did not invite public acclaim.

Mr. Black and some of his colleagues, if they remain long enough in office, may come to a better understanding of the responsibilities they have accepted. At present these sanctimonious platitudes and banalities, this holier-than-thou attitude towards others, inspire something less than respect or confidence.

Too Exact To Be True

NEW York staged the largest air raid drill of its experience this week as part of its civil defense program. Bombers flew overhead, watermains "burst" and various other incidents were arranged to create a realistic atmosphere. It seems to have been an effective and salutary training exercise, one calculated to impress citizens with the need for carefully planned defensive measures.

In one particular, however, the precision of the drill went beyond credence. As part of the scheme there was the assumption that an atom bomb had been dropped, and statistics were compiled as to the extent of the casualties supposed to have resulted. As reported by press dispatches these were remarkably meticulous, viz., 112,409 killed and 116,501 injured. No general guesswork here but a count of noses down to the last one.

This is reminiscent of some Korean dispatches of a year ago, where there was no simulation of enemy attack but the real thing and the count was of valid importance. The same astonishing precision was in evidence. One report credited a U.N. division as having killed and wounded 37,750 Red troops in five days. Another was even more precise, setting an enemy casualty figure for an equal period at 48,341.

Since it would have been necessary to go behind the enemy lines and, with their permission, tabulate every killed or wounded soldier in order to cite such figures, they were obviously unacceptable to any thinking person. What is more, such reports tended to discredit all subsequent claims. In New York it was only pretense, yet here also doubt is cast on an operation in general because of an arithmetical exactitude that denies itself. If one facet is palpably absurd, what of all others?

TRADE RIVALRY

Sir,—Your editorial on the disastrous consequences to Britain of the revival of Japanese industry follows appropriately on the heels of the report two days ago of the warning given British car manufacturers by our deputy minister of trade and industry that the Germans are invading the Canadian market with the "volkswagon" and that it is underselling British cars even with a 15 per cent duty.

Surely these two incidents should give pause to even the most fervent apostle of free enterprise. They are plain signs that once again the industrial nations of the world are facing the major problem of free enterprise, the problem of disposing of the flood of goods modern technology makes not only possible but also essential if modern industrial plant is to operate efficiently.

The full impact of this problem has so far been softened to a great degree by the hot war in Korea and the cold war elsewhere, which have been successful in absorbing vast quantities of labor power and materials which otherwise would have swelled the flood of consumer goods to even greater heights. But the situation discussed in the editorial and the incident reported by the deputy minister of trade and industry indicate quite clearly that even the demands of the Korean war and the huge defense expenditures of the N.A.T.O. are not sufficient to mop up the flood of goods which once again threatens to drown its producers.

This offers the world two rather grim alternatives. One is to allow the problem to settle itself as it did in the thirties when the mass of unsaleable goods throughout the world finally choked the sources of production and brought industry down to a limping pace. It also brought millions of people to the depths of misery, and it is doubtful whether they will again accept this solution quietly. The other is to step up the cold war into a hot one. If we do that then the problem is solved overnight. All the productive resources of the western world will be taxed to the limit and the products of even a rejuvenated Germany and Japan will be welcomed to throw into the bottomless pit of war consumption. But this solution, like the other, has its drawbacks. Even if we discount the more extreme prophets of doom who tell us the next war will obliterate civilization and all its problems, experience shows us that even a full scale global war has only the most distressingly temporary effect on the productive potential of modern industry. For here we are, only seven years after the last war, up against the same old difficulty, how to get rid of the goods the ingenuity of man produces in ever-increasing volume.

In the face of this is it too much to suggest that it is time to sit down and consider the root causes of the dilemma before it is too late and we have to make our choice between these two alternatives? No sane person wants either depression or war, but, as someone has said, a lot of people want things they can only have at the price of war or depression.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IF HISTORY were lived after it was written, instead of the other way round as it has to be, then hindsight would become foresight and the world would probably live happily ever after.

General Eisenhower endangered his country, says President Truman, by his advice in 1945 that he saw no reason why Russia and the U.S.A. couldn't remain friends. This carried great weight and did a deal of harm. It prevented America from "waking up" in the three following years to the danger of Communism.

Just in passing, who accepted such advice if it was given. Mr. Truman, of course.

And who expected Eisenhower, or any other allied figure of those days, to say anything different? Not Mr. Truman, apparently, no matter what he says now.

In Robert Sherwood's "Roosevelt and Hopkins" we learn that shortly after Mr. Truman became the President Hopkins, a noted Roosevelt confidant and emissary all during the war, flew to Moscow to discuss with Stalin the postwar relations of the two countries on the authority of Mr. Truman. This was in May, 1945.

Here is an extract from the record of that meeting.

"Mr. Hopkins (speaking): Prior to his departure President Truman had expressed to him . . . his desire to continue President Roosevelt's policy of working with the Soviet Union and his intention to carry out in fact as well as in spirit all the arrangements, both formal and informal, which President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin had worked out together."

In his own book, "Crusade in Europe," Eisenhower is on record as writing: "Americans at the time (1945)—or at least we in Berlin—saw no reason why the Russian system of government and democracy as practiced by the Western Allies could not live side by side," on the basis of "live and let live."

But he is also on record as saying: "Another item on which I ventured to advise President Truman involved the Soviet's intention to enter the Japanese war. (This was at the time of the Potsdam conference, in which Eisenhower played no official part.) I told him that since reports indicated the imminence of Japan's collapse I deprecated the Red Army's engaging in that war. I foresaw certain difficulties arising out of such participation and suggested that, at the very least, we ought not to put ourselves in the position of requesting or begging for Soviet aid."

Mr. Truman disregarded this advice and agreed to Soviet aid—all for having Russia in that war for a single week—and the result was to hand over Manchuria to Moscow, and, as a consequence, China to the Communists.

The kettle could keep on calling the pot black for ever in connection with what this or that body advised in 1945. It is a fact that traditional Russian dourness and lack of gratitude and co-operation during the war raised doubts in many minds about the future of postwar relations. But no one could voice them then.

A world war had just been won, in which Russia and the West had been allies, or at least on the same side. No matter his private misgivings, Eisenhower, or anyone else for that matter, could scarcely turn round and say in effect: "We're not going to get on with Russia. Let's treat them as an enemy."

It's true the West overdid its bid for postwar friendship by kow-towing to Russia, but in the immediate years after the cease-fire everybody wanted peace and the initial impulse was to bend over backwards in the hope of getting it.

We didn't get it, but I doubt that Eisenhower is to blame. He wasn't in the White House from 1945 to 1952.

German Unity and the Four Powers

By RICHARD SCOTT, From London

FOR over six months now the governments of the four powers which have been responsible for the occupation of Germany have been exchanging diplomatic notes on the question of the holding of a four-power meeting to discuss German unity and a German peace treaty. No agreement has yet been reached on the agenda or procedure for such a meeting and it begins to look pretty clear that agreement is unlikely to be reached. Frankly, it looks as though the Soviet government, which initiated this series of diplomatic exchanges on March 10, has now lost interest. In other words the propaganda she had hoped to make out of her diplomatic initiative has long ago turned sour on her.

The major preoccupation of Soviet diplomacy for a long time now has been to do everything possible to hold up, and if possible prevent, the integration of the Federal German Republic into the Western world. This integration began with the republic's membership of the Organization for European Co-operation and the Council of Europe. But Russia did not become really roused until it became clear that the federal republic was also going to join the Schuman coal-steel pool and, worse still, the European Defense Community under which a limited German rearmament would take place.

There seems to be no reason at all to doubt that the real purpose behind the Soviet initiative of March 10 in proposing a four-power meeting to discuss German unity and a peace treaty was to try to prevent German ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty and the related contractual agreements under which the federal republic will regain virtually complete sovereign independence. The carrot which the Russians offered was the prospect of German unity. And this was a substantial carrot to every German.

But it soon became clear in the subsequent Soviet notes on this subject, and perhaps even more in the Soviet actions in the East Zone of Germany, that the carrot was rotten and had no substance. In other words, that the Russians had no intention whatever of allowing the unification of Germany on any conditions which would be acceptable to the West German people or to the Western powers.

In their reply to the first Soviet note the Western powers pointed out that the only practicable and logical manner of proceeding was first to ensure that conditions existed throughout Germany for the holding of free all-German elections. Then would follow the creation of an all-German government and finally the four powers could draft, with the participation of representatives of this central German government, the German peace settlement. This was precisely the reverse of the order in which the Russians had suggested these issues should be discussed.

In the next two Soviet notes the Russian government paid lip-service to the need for the holding of free all-German elections and to the need for a commission to ensure that adequate conditions for these elections obtained. She also agreed that the treaty should be drafted with the participation of representatives of the all-German government. But she still insisted that the peace treaty should be discussed first.

Not only have the Western powers been unable to shift Moscow from this obviously completely illogical position but, in the Soviet note received on August 23 Moscow even moved quite a long way back. For instance, she now protested that there was no need to wait for the formation of an all-German government before the drafting of the German peace treaty. In other words, she reversed her earlier agreement that this treaty should be negotiated between the four powers and the representatives of a unified Germany.

It seems quite obvious that if Moscow had had any genuine interest in trying to bring about the unification of Germany she would have been able to agree to the clear and logical procedure proposed by the Western powers, which was based on the need first of all to ensure that free all-German elections could be held. The only reason why Moscow has rejected this procedure must be—and it is hardly surprising—that she could not contemplate free elections in the East Zone because she knew this would spell the end not only of her own but of Communist control.

But Soviet actions have given an even clearer picture of Moscow's intentions than the shiftiness of his diplomatic notes. She has been doing everything she can during recent months to make permanent the division between the two Germanies. Towards the end of May the Russian authorities in Germany closed half the road connections between their zone and the federal republic, leaving only five crossing points on the 500-mile long zonal frontier. The telephone and telegraph communications between the western sectors of Berlin and the areas of Germany under Soviet control, and between these areas and the federal republic, were either cut or severely reduced. They then created a prohibited zone five kilometres wide along the whole zonal frontier and forcibly removed the inhabitants. For well over a year the Soviet authorities in Germany have been gradually increasing their restrictions on inter-zonal travel and have turned the demarcation line between East and West Germany into a veritable international frontier of the Iron Curtain type.

It is hardly surprising that the attractiveness of the original Soviet carrot has greatly faded in the eyes of West Germans and all those who had hoped that the Russians might really be prepared to discuss seriously with the three Western powers the means of restoring in Germany her unity and independence.

Problem of Young Drivers

(From The Ottawa Citizen)

EVERY day young lives are being snuffed out as a result of reckless driving habits which are all too prevalent within their own age group. Even if the driver himself escapes, he may cause death or injury to his companions or to other users of the highway.

Youthful motorists are also responsible for an enormous amount of property damage. What happens to a machine is infinitely less important than what happens to a human body—the former can be replaced—yet it may be through the pocketbook that an answer to this terrifying problem will eventually be found.

The rapidly rising cost of automobile insurance is mainly attributed to the actions of drivers under 25 years of age. Underwriters say that less than 10 per cent of insured motorists cause the excessive damage that the other 90 per cent must pay for. And within that small proportion, the 16-25-year-old group is predominant.

A more drastic approach to the special problem of the young driver may be necessary. This would be to deny ordinary insurance—as some companies are already beginning to do—to all drivers under 25 years of age. The "assigned risk" plan might then be applied to the entire group. This means the pooling of risks by the insurance companies, investigation of each applicant at his own expense, and a stiffer price for protection against public liability and property damage. Such a plan calls for progressive scaling down of the premium as the driver demonstrates his responsibility, until he is brought down to the regular rate.

The effect would be to give each youthful motorist an immediate incentive to drive carefully—especially if his parents made him pay the premium out of his own pocket.

This plan, while hard on many youngsters who are just as careful drivers as most of their elders, would prove so only in the initial stages. As it is, they must suffer a financial handicap, through no fault of their own, until they reach the age of 25.

A telephone had been installed in the remote farmhouse, and grandma, using a phone for the first time in her life, got herself tangled up with the cord. Getting the operator at last, she complained: "Young woman, this cord is too long. Pull in about two feet at your end."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

A POLICEMAN tells me that in the opinion of the police a man who will be lawless about parking his car is capable of being lawless about anything. After years of police work, this man declares that there are no degrees of lawlessness. A person either has a sense of law or he has not, and given the opportunity and the incentive a man who will park his car in defiance of civic regulations will commit any crime in the calendar.

This is a pretty dogmatic attitude. But the policeman has a very interesting array of evidence to back it up. It is not at all uncommon to see somebody parking in a prohibited area or otherwise defying the regulations and the public welfare. After years of familiarity with city streets, we are inclined to suppose that these who transgress are just average citizens. No. The policeman points out that there are two hundred or two thousand other motorists, at that very moment, who have not only parked legally, but have refrained from parking illegally, which is a different thing entirely. For every one who offends there may be, at that very instant, two hundred looking for a place to park, and behaving themselves properly, not just suiting their convenience as the offender does.

"By far the greater number of citizens are law abiding, by nature," says my policeman. "They are overwhelmingly in the majority. But they have no sense of righteousness whatever. They put up with the lawless minority, apparently under the impression that the minority is the majority. If the law abiding majority only realized their strength and appreciated their rights, they would back the police up far more energetically in giving the transgressors the business. When I see a man or a woman calmly breaking the little traffic regulations, I know I am looking at a person without the sense of law, and a potential chiseller, grafter, grifter, cheat, thug, and so on up the scale, given the incentive and the opportunity."

It is worth pondering.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG, Oct 2 (CP)—Prices moved narrowly but showed a fairly steady tone in dull trade.

Commercial demand showed some improvement. Trade reports said there had been enquiry for Canadian barley for Japan, while small quantities had been worked overnight for export overseas through Antwerp.

The reports were reflected in export demand in both oats and barley. American interests also picked up the deferred months of oats. October barley displayed a good tone on shipper buying and light offerings.

Flax received support from industrialists and seaboard interests. Americans picked up rye.

Prices for class two wheat and I.W.A. were unchanged from yesterday.

HUGE PROGRAM

NEW DELHI (CP)—The government of India plans to spend huge amounts in the next five years on expanding internal and external communications. As part of the plan, all villages of more than 2,000 population will have post offices.

Unlisted and Miscellaneous

Busy Zellers Advances To New High

further fractional decline was shown in quiet dealings.

Among wider losers were Dominion Bridge, off 1½ at 77⅞, and Dominion Glass, down one at 56. Walker added at point at 42½ for the only major advance.

Papers, senior metals, carriers and banks showed an easier tone.

Senior oils, steels, beverages and miscellaneous industrials balanced a list of small changes. Zellers was again active, advancing ⅛ to a new high of 17⅞. McColl-Frontenac, Canadian Breweries and Asbestos Corporation also firmed.

Bell and Shawinigan were stronger, moving utilities slightly upward.

Mines were irregularly lower. East Sullivan fell 10 cents to a new low of $7.90. Ascot also reached a new low, dipping eight cents to $1.97.

Western oils were mixed. Del Rio, United Oils and Pacific Petroleum firmed while new Continental, Tor American and Empire Oil lost ground.

Western Oils Steadier

TORONTO, Oct. 2 (CP)—Stock market prices today declined slowly in a continuation of a four-week downward trend.

All sections slipped less than a point on the exchange's indices and western oils recorded a small advance although the section showed a majority of losses.

Utilities slipped in the last hour after a firm day and steels and miscellaneous issues also lost strength. Brazilian Traction preferred dropped $10 in a single small sale while B.C. Electric 4¾ preferred gained $1.50. Ford B dropped $4.50.

New High, a prospect, starred in the golds section with a turnover of 473,000 shares for a gain of 1⅛ cents. Gunnar gained 13 cents.

Higher priced base metals led the section downward and Coldstream dropped 26 cents. United Asbestos and Labrador gained.

Western oil losses ranged to 40 cents and gains to 35 cents. Albermont, Bailey Selburn and General Pete A slipped, while Federated Pete, Cal. and Ed and Canada Southern traded higher.

Features In Mines

VANCOUVER, Oct 2.—Base metals formed the strongest section of the market today, although even here there was individual weakness. Estella traded lower to close at 36½ cents.

Stronger features were Western Uranium at 4.40, Nesbitt Labine at 3.65 and Quatsino at 62 cents. Giant Mascot steadied at 65 cents after a heavy fall earlier in the week.

Oils were mixed, with Federated regaining some ground at 7.90½.

Industrials were firm, with Canadian Western Lumber and Powell River higher.

Wall Street Gains

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—It was another World Series stock market today with quiet progress being made despite Wall Street's attention on baseball.

Price changes usually were in the smaller fractions, with an occasional stock moving a point or so either way, generally on the upside.

A good showing was made in the railroads, steels, motors, radio-television issues, and in a few chemicals. Downside pressure was not concentrated.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 10 cents at $106.20. Each of the components of the average—industrials, rails, and utilities—gained 10 cents.

London Stock Prices

LONDON, Oct. 2 (Reuters)—Rather quiet conditions prevailed on the stock exchange today and price movements were irregular.

British Government securities remained firm and industrials held to early advances, including textiles, rayons, tobaccos and the heavy engineerings.

In the foreign bond market, Japanese were unchanged to two points lower. German Reich bonds showed gains of up to 1½ points. The German Potash bonds were irregular, the 7 per cent losing two points to 111, while the 6½ per cents gained a point to 103.

New Market Opened by Tank Trains

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

A new market of nearly 40,000 barrels of crude a week has been opened for Alberta's oil fields by the inauguration of the daily rail delivery service to Vancouver.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has set up eight [illegible] cars each which will make a daily schedule from the Leduc oil field to the Imperial Oil Refinery at Ioco on Burrard Inlet—a distance of more than 700 miles.

The daily train will carry 5,400 barrels of crude, an important addition to the western oil market of about 300,000 barrels a day.

Each train requires eight days to make the round trip, with 12 working hours required for unloading of the tanks at Ioco.

The new rail service which brings Alberta oil to the B.C. Coast for the first time is merely the forerunner of an even greater supply of 120,000 barrels which will flow through the new Transmountain Pipeline when it is opened in August next year.

BRITAIN HAS A PLAN

Few people have a solution to the sterling-dollar problem that they genuinely think will work, but the British think that there may be a solution in a spread of multilateral trading.

The U.K. office at Ottawa is delighted with the Canadian decision to buy 1,355 British-made Diesel engines for India under the Colombo plan.

This sort of order, say the British, means that they are making their dollars work harder. Some of the inflationary fat is taken off dollars by "increasing their velocity of circulation."

The dollars work double shift. India needs the trucks and buses. Canada provides the chassis and buys the engines from Britain. Result: India gets her trucks; Britain earns dollars to spend in Canada. Canada invests in the future in a vital area.

Bilateral agreement with no strings is what Britain wants, and some clarification of her ideas may be forthcoming at the Commonwealth conference in London.

BIDDERS FOR STERLING

It is not only the British, however, who have some confidence that sterling is capable of making a spectacular come back.

The "free" market for sterling in Canada has risen recently from [illegible] $2.43, the prevailing rate this week.

Many Canadians think that sterling at the present "free" price is a sound investment.

GAS RESERVES GROW

An important extension to their major gas field in the Fort St. John district of B.C. was announced yesterday by Pacific Petroleums.

Their Pacific Fort St. John No. 12 well has rated a 3,130,000 cubic feet daily capacity from 34 feet of pay zone in the Upper Triassic formation.

The well is five miles east-southeast of Pacific Fort St. John, the nearest productive well, and 4½ miles south of Pacific Fort St. John No. 10.

No. 9 well also encountered two separate gas flows in the Middle Triassic and is now near its Permo-Pennsylvanian objectives.

The new find adds a large addition gas reserve potential to the Fort St. John field and builds up the gas availability for the West coast Transmission Company's proposed gas pipeline to the Pacific Coast.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

New district commercial manager for B.C. Telephone Co. for all Island exchanges north of Cobble Hill is L. A. Huxtable.

He took over his new duties [illegible] Victorian, was previously district sales manager for the company in Victoria.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL, Oct. 2 (CP).—Prices on the Montreal bond markets followed an irregular path in active trading today. Government of Canada and provincial issues held steady. The corporate market was well mixed. In convertibles, Dominion Textile was higher but C.P.R. 3½'s lost ground. Aluminium dipped and Imperial Oil was stronger and other non-convertibles were unchanged.

British Banks Open House In Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 2 (CP)—Canada's development as an international financial centre and Toronto's emergence as a city performing the international functions of London and New York have brought two world-famous British "merchant banking" houses here.

Harris and Partners Limited, a new Canadian investment house, opened yesterday. The company is made up of the long-established firm of W. C. Harris and Co. Ltd. and the merchant banking firms of Baring Brothers and Co. Ltd. and Morgan Grenfell and Co. Ltd. of London.

The firm is the only one of its type in Canada. Hitherto, British merchant banking techniques had no exact counterpart here.

Merchant banks are mainly privately-owned companies whose basic function is to finance foreign trade as individuals rather than as governmental or government-controlled institutions.

Greenskeepers Take Time Off To Play

Greenskeepers, who spend all year manicuring grass for golfers, took time off at Uplands Golf Club yesterday to take part in their annual golf tournament. Pictured just before they teed off are Bert Beggs, Victoria Golf Club, Don Lowe, Colwood, and L. D. Barnes, Cedar Hill, who retained his championship.

No one enjoyed themselves any more than this grizzled trio, oldest in field. From left to right are 67-year-old Robert Allen from the Uplands Golf Club, 67-year-old David Furneston from Victoria Golf Club, and 66-year-old Ben Jacklin from Gorge Vale Golf Club.—(Colonist photos by Bud Kinsman.)

Raschi, Martin Share Starring Roles As Yankees Score Easy 7-1 Victory

BY JACK HAND

BROOKLYN, Oct 2 (AP) — One-round Billy Martin and Vic Raschi restored the pride of the Yankees today as Brooklyn pitching buckled under a five-run sixth inning to let New York Yankees square the 1952 World Series with a 7-1 victory in the second game.

Martin, the fiery second baseman who retired as unbeaten middleweight champ of the American League after two spring brawls, singed losing pitcher Carl Erskine and reliefer Billy Loes with a tie-breaking single and a three-run homer to drive home four big runs.

Out on the mound, the 33-year-old Raschi coolly strong-armed his way to a three-hit triumph, his fourth in series competition dating back to 1947.

ONE BAD INNING

Only in the third inning when the Dodgers bunched singles by Peewee Reese, Duke Snider and Roy Campanella for their lone run did the veteran righthander allow a hit. He blazed down the stretch with six no-hit innings.

From the third to the seventh, Big Vic slipped his fast ball and slider past the bewildered Dodgers, retiring 12 men in a row. Nine Dodgers were strike victims, including Snider, yesterday's hero, three times.

Many of the 33,792 fans left the park early while Raschi mastered their heroes.

OLD-TIME RALLY

For five innings it was a tense ball game as tight as yesterday's duel between Joe Black and Allie Reynolds. Suddenly the Yanks exploded in the sixth to turn the 2-1 lead into a 7-1 rout.

Erskine, wobbling because of poor control, got his lumps in the sixth. This time there was no brilliant Dodger defense to save him.

First baseman Gil Hodges floundered on two key plays that paved the way for Martin's home run poke into the lower left field seats.

But before Hodges messed up matters Erskine was in the showers, leaving a none-out, bases-loaded situation for the 22-year-old Loes.

Mickey Mantle's bunt single, his second of three hits, started Erskine on the way out in the big inning. Gene Woodling's sharp single to right centre kept it going. When Yogi Berra walked on a 3-2 pitch to fill 'em up, Erskine was lifted for Loes.

HODGES ERRS

Loes made Joe Collins rap a double-play bouncer to Jackie Robinson who tagged Berra on the baseline. But Hodges let Robby's easy throw squirm out of his glove for a costly error, Mantle scoring.

Gil McDougald dropped a bunt toward first that Hodges picked up and held, without making a play, as Woodling crossed the plate.

Up stepped Martin, playing his first series as a regular since Gerry Coleman was called up by the Marines. After looking at a ball, he smashed the second pitch into the seats about 360 feet away to break the game wide open.

The Dodgers, who had the Brooklyn faithful talking about four straight last night, started off as though they meant to do just that.

Raschi slid through an easy first inning but loaded the bases on walks in the second. Robinson's dancing base-running seemed to upset the Yankee pitcher. Still he escaped when Erskine popped up the first pitch for the third out.

Brooklyn took the lead in the third where it concentrated its entire "attack" on Raschi.

WASTE NO TIME

Back came the Yanks in the fourth to tie the score. Mantle boomed a double high off the scoreboard in right, moved to third on Woodling's infield out and raced in after Berra flied to Carl Furillo.

Martin took over in the fifth after McDougald drew Erskine's fourth pass. A dropped strike by Campanella that let McDougald scoot to second for a credited stolen base set it up for Martin's tie-breaking single to left.

DID THE TRICK

Yankee manager Casey Stengel claimed after the game in the clubhouse that he reassured Raschi with a promise of a pay raise when the big veteran got into trouble in the second inning.

"I told him to be a good boy and get 'em out and I'd get him a raise," Stengel orated for newsmen.

"Tomorrow we go with Ed Lopat in Yankee Stadium," the New York manager declared.

Over in the Dodgers' dressing room, things were much quieter than they were Wednesday, when the place was a bedlam of noise and flashing photographer's bulbs.

PRAISE RASCHI

Pitcher Carl Erskine, first baseman Gil Hodges and catcher Roy Campanella blamed themselves for their mistakes but all the Dodgers were lavish with their praise of Raschi.

"After the third inning he was terrific," Duke Snider, struck out three times, summed up. "He had everything good fast ball, change-of-pace, and control."

ROE TO START

Brooklyn manager Chuck Dressen reiterated that he would start Preacher Roe in the third game.

"Maybe Joe Black and maybe not. I'll tell tomorrow," he said when asked who would pitch the fourth game.

Highlights In Brief

Yankees' coach Bill Dickey and Dodger pitcher Preacher Roe were seen in a serious conversation just before game-time. World Series stuff? No, hound dogs. Both are Arkansas natives.

Only one team in World Series history, the 1921 Yankees, took the first two games only to lose the series. The Giants beat them five games to three.

* * *

Wounded servicemen are being given special privileges for the series. Each day, the 52 Association of New York provides 10 to 15 wounded GI's with choice box seats, box lunches, and steak dinners after the game.

* * *

Pie Traynor, the old Pittsburgh third baseman who is one of the all-time greats, discovered Brooklyn's Billy Cox in Harrisburg, Pa., in 1941, and says, "He's one of the greatest glovemen I ever saw."

Odds on the New York Yankees to win their fourth straight series shifted to 2-1 yesterday after Brooklyn's second game loss. The Yanks were also quoted as 8½-5 favorites to win today's third game at Yankee Stadium.

* * *

Anticipating a long series the Dodgers announced yesterday that ticket sales for the sixth and seventh games at Ebbets Field would open at 4 p.m. tomorrow afternoon.

* * *

The office of Price Stabilization yesterday checked parking lots in the vicinity of Ebbets Field after numerous complaints by series fans over "exorbitant" fees. One lot owner was found to be charging $2 and was told to eliminate the extra charge of $1.

DUKE ENTERS TOURNEY

LONDON, Oct. 2 (Reuters) — The Duke of Windsor, feeling chipper after a round of illness and medical checkups, plans to compete with some of Britain's best golfers in a two-day tournament this week-end.

Service Teams To Provide Football Fare

Navy will be seeking its first victory of the season when it clashes with Royal Roads in a Canadian Football League game at Heywood Avenue tomorrow afternoon.

A new entry in the three-team league this season, Navy dropped its opening contest to Vampires by a 5-0 score but have a strengthened line-up for tomorrow's important clash.

Among the new faces will be Ron Souliere, a 210-pound centre, who saw former service with Ottawa Renfrew Collegiate. Don McHardie, 200-pound tackle with three years of junior experience, and Dave Burke, an experienced end from Windsor's Assumption College juniors.

Also expected to add strength to the backfield is Les Charlton, brother of Saskatchewan Roughriders Ken, who will hold down the quarterback slot.

Navy's band will entertain the crowd with selections before the opening kickoff and during the intermission. Kickoff time is 2.00

Clippers Not Joining City Mercantile Loop

Any possibility that Nanaimo Clippers would enter the Victoria Commercial Hockey League has been eliminated.

At an executive meeting of the league last night it was reported that Clippers had withdrawn their application in a telephone call to league secretary Bill Oliver.

TERMS TOO STIFF

The reason given for the withdrawal was that the team could not meet conditions set down. The executive proposed that the Nanaimo entry pay each visiting club a percentage of the gate, with a minimum of $35 and a maximum of $125.

League officials felt that the main reason the Clippers were unable to meet the terms was the high cost of renting the Nanaimo Civic Arena. The arena, it was reported, was demanding a $200 guarantee and a 50-50 split of anything above that figure.

The league also felt that its demand to check the strength of the Nanaimo club was also a deciding factor.

INTER-CITY GAMES

Inter-city games with the five-team Vancouver Commercial Hockey League will be played. Fears of Victoria officials that Vancouver Wheelers, who played in the Pacific Coast Senior League last season were joining the Vancouver loop as the Kerrisdale Wheelers were dispelled.

Victoria officials were assured that this is not the case. Last year a Burnaby Beavers are being sponsored by the same organization which backed the Wheelers last season.

Under the present schedule the Victoria league will play eight games with Vancouver, four in Victoria and four on the mainland. The points will count in the Victoria standings.

This season's schedule follows:

October 28—Merchants vs Irving, Army vs Navy
October 31—Navy vs Merchants, Irving vs Army
November 3—Merchants vs Army, Navy vs Irving
November 10—Navy vs Army, U.B.C. vs Merchants, Irving vs Pilseners at Kerrisdale Arena

Congdon Leads B.C. Open

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP) — Chuck Congdon of Tacoma, Wash., captured the first-day lead in the British Columbia open golf tournament at Shaughnessy today by firing a three-under-par 69.

The long-hitting professional went out in 35 and came in with a 34 to carry a one-stroke edge over the field into tomorrow's second round.

Ever-shifting winds harried the field of 125 players and high scores were common.

The field will be sliced to 36 professionals and 18 amateurs for the final 36 holes Saturday.

AMATEUR NEXT

Tom Ross of Vancouver posted a two-under-par 70 to finish one stroke behind Congdon and take the lead among the amateurs.

Deadlocked at 71 were professionals Dick Haskell of Seattle and Harold West of Pendleton, Ore. Bunny Mason, Len Gaulocher, Bob McKendrick, Roy Heisler and Dave Dixon were bunched at 72.

Stan Leonard carded a 74, Freddie Wood a 73.

Lyle Crawford of Windermere, B.C., posted the second best amateur score with an even-par 72, one stroke better than Lyle Hurschman of Vancouver, Victoria's Hugh Morrison and Seattle's Paul Johanson.

Night Schools Again List Golfing Class

Golf classes will again be on the agenda of the Greater Victoria evening classes every Tuesday and Thursday night at Victoria High school.

The program will run for 10 weeks with four separate classes available. The classes will be held on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7-8 and from 8-9.

Anyone wishing to register for the course may do so at the first night of the class or at the school board office, 1017 Joan Crescent. Fee is $12.

Walter Gravlin and John Wren, pro and assistant pro at the Uplands, will handle the Tuesday night session from 7-8, Joe Pryke, pro at Gorge Vale and Fred Burns, former assistant pro at Colwood, from 8-9. Phil Taylor and Laurie Carroll, pro and assistant pro at the Victoria Golf Club, Thursday night from 7-8, and Bill Court and Laurie Kerr, pro and assistant pro at Colwood, from 8-9.

Barnes Retains Greenskeepers' Golfing Trophy

L. Barnes of the Cedar Hill Golf Club successfully defended the H. Young Trophy, emblematic of the annual Greenkeepers' Golf Tournament championship by shooting a net 78 at the Uplands Golf Club yesterday.

Barnes also won the J. A. Sayward Cup for the handicap championship. A. C. Smith of the Victoria Club was runner-up in the championship competition and R. Gordon of Uplands was runner-up in the handicap championship with an 80.

A. V. Macan presented the prizes at a banquet at Lougheeds Hall, immediately following the tournament.

Other results follow:

Putting competition: W. Barnes, Cedar Hill.
Inter-club shield: Uplands Golf Club.
Visitors' prize: George Chambers, Vancouver.
Closest to cup: G. Smith, Gorge Vale.

Peterborough In Late Rally To Gain Final

TORONTO, Oct. 2 (CP).—Peterborough Timbermen tonight won the Eastern Canada senior lacrosse title, defeating Toronto West Yorks 12-8 to take the best-of-seven series 4-3.

Peterborough now advances into the Mann Cup finals against Vancouver, western champions. The best-of-seven title series starts Sunday at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

West Yorks led tonight until the final period when they were outscored 7-0. Close to 4,000 fans then saw Peterborough come roaring from behind after a costly penalty to the Toronto team.

The top Timbermen marksmen were Bob Thorpe and Ross Slater, each with two goals. Singles went to Curly Mason, Roger Smith, Don Ashbee, L. Garbutt, Harry Wipper, Deutch Vitarelli, Lou Nickle and Nip O'Hearn.

IMPORTANT BOUT

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S., Oct 2 (CP)—Canadian light heavyweight champion Eddie Zastre of Winnipeg will meet George Ross, former Canadian middleweight champion, in a non-title bout here October 13.

Cougar Hopes Rise With Mazur, Long; Royals Play Here

more like a Western Canada Hockey League team yesterday.

Long awaited news from Montreal finally arrived and it was good. Sent to join Lester Patrick's club by Canadiens were Stan Long, bashing defenseman of the 1950-51 champions, and Ed "Spider" Mazur, gangly, high-scoring left winger.

KILBURN ON WAY

And, in addition, there was official confirmation of the earlier reports that the Cougars were to get Colin Kilburn who starred with Edmonton Flyers last season. Kilburn left Montreal Monday and may arrive in time to play tonight when the Cougars open their season with an exhibition game against New Westminster's powerful Royals at Memorial Arena.

Arrival of Long, Mazur and Kilburn will give coach Ed Dorohoy 15 players in addition to himself and there is still hope that Ivan Irwin, the big defenseman from Cincinnati, will be along.

HELPS COUGARS

Refusal of the American Hockey League to accept players on recall has been a boon to the Cougars, who might not have received the help they have from Canadiens had it been possible to send players to their Buffalo farm team on recall.

All of the Montreal-owned players are on recall but it is not at all likely that the parent club will be forced to take more than one player without replacement during the season.

On the Cougar roster now are goalie Jerry Cotnoir, defensemen Ernie Roche, Long, Fiori Goegan, man and Don Webster, forwards Reg Abbott, Andy Hebenton, Kilburn, Doug Anderson, Jack McIntyre, Joe Evans, Joe Medynski, Mazur and Dorohoy.

NEEDED HELP

Return of Long who proved to be a favorite here two seasons ago was particularly heartening as the club badly needed defense reinforcements. The big youngster only two seasons out of junior hockey played for Buffalo last season where he proved to be one of the Bisons' best defensemen.

Long was particularly good for a defenseman offensively. He scored 11 goals and made 20 assists in league play and was the club's high scorer in the playdowns with two goals and an assist in three games. He wound up with Canadiens and saw action in three Stanley Cup games. With the Cougars in 1950-51 he scored nine goals and had 15 assists in 62 games and spent 77 minutes in the penalty box. He served 96 minutes last season.

SHOULD HELP

Mazur, who will be starting his fifth professional season, has been bothered this year by knee trouble but he is expected to be in top shape by the time league play starts next Thursday.

The big leftwinger scored two goals for Canadiens in five Stanley Cup games last season after getting 19 goals and passing for 18 in 61 games with Buffalo, where he came on after a mediocre start.

In two seasons with the Cougars Mazur scored 76 goals and made 55 assists. His best season was in 1950-51, when he had 43 goals and 30 assists and played a big part in the Cougars' league championship.

Dorohoy was not available last night and there is no indication of how the Cougars will line up against the Royals tonight.

Long and Roche will probably be on different defense combinations with Goegan and Webster likely contenders for the other starting jobs.

ROYALS LOOK GOOD

The Royals, however, are ready for the season. Lucien Dechene will be in goal, a real test for any team. Pete Durham, Roger Bergeron, Jim Bedard and Al Oakley will be on defense. One forward combination has Ken Ullyot at centre with Blinky Boyce and Ollie Dorohoy on the wings.

Other lines will be chosen from Max McNab, former Detroit Red Wing, Gordie Haidy, Stan Maxwell, Bob Love, Gordie Fashoway, Don Slater and several others trying to win positions.

Strain Returns To Saskatoon, Players Signed

Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League received good news yesterday when it was announced that high scoring Neil Strain had been returned to the club from New York Rangers' training camp.

Strain, a left winger, was a member of last year's P.C.H.L. playoff championship Saskatoon squad and played on a line with John Chad and Alex Kaleta.

Strain scored 33 goals and assisted on 40 for a total of 73 points, third highest total on the team.

Forward Fred Brown and defenseman Ken Barlow who both played with Cincinnati in the American Hockey League last year have signed 1952-53 contracts.

Twin Rugby Bill Tomorrow

Victoria's four senior division rugby teams completed pre-season workouts last night and all but Victoria College Vikings released starting lineups for Saturday's twin opening games.

Most of the interest will centre on the Oak Bay Wanderers-Crusaders' clash on the upper pitch of Macdonald Park. Wanderers won the Island and League playoff championships while Crusaders were easy winners of the league title.

Victoria College and J.B.A.A. clash on the lower field and both squads are reputed to have stronger teams than last season. League officials speculate that it will be one of the tightest league races in years.

Lineups follow:

Crusaders Pete Scott, Al Morris, David Hyde, Lave, Toni Ballard, Jack Other, Ray Calton, Denny Stead, Dick Baker, Jack Rowe, Bill Orr, John Bissley, Ken Bridge, Bob Shipley, Norm Dickson, Hugh Barton and George Morgan.

J.B.A.A. Ed Bourke, Pete Barry, Bob Breen, John Poole, Don Smith, Jack Shields, Ron Mooney, Jim Oliver, Pete Langdon, Gary Pyne, Goody Pyne, Dave Cowe, Fraser Nicolson, Larry Smith, Ray Benson and Harry Millers.

Minor Series Still Undecided

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Four innings of no-hit, no-run relief pitching by righthander Jack Crimian tonight carried Rochester Red Wings to a 10-5 victory over Kansas City Blues in the fifth game of their little world series. Kansas City leads 3-2 in the best-of-seven affair.

Toronto Fans To Need Programs To Identify Rebuilt Maple Leafs

(This is the fourth of a Canadian Press series on pre-season prospects of the N.H.L. clubs. Today's story is about Toronto Maple Leafs. Next, Chicago Black Hawks.)

ST CATHARINES, Ont., Oct. 2 (CP).—Fans around the National Hockey League may have to take a second look to recognize [illegible]

Coach Joe Primeau, setting out on his second term with the Leafs, has on his training camp roster only eight veteran members from the team which finished third in the league race last season and then lost four straight games to Detroit Red Wings in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Primeau's task is to mould a winning combination from the [illegible] second-year men and rookies. He thinks he'll wind up with a contending and crowd-pleasing team. He's not guessing where they'll finish.

A key figure in the wholesale rebuilding job is good-natured Harry Lumley, the veteran goalie who came into the Toronto camp in a trade three weeks ago that sent goalie Al Rollins, defenseman Gus Mortson and centre Cal Gardner to Chicago Black Hawks who also acquired left wing Ray Hannigan who played last season for Pittsburgh Hornets, Toronto farm club in the American Hockey League.

When Primeau settled back to talk about his team's prospects he started off with a reference to Lumley. "To begin with, we have a good goalie," he said.

POSITIONS OPEN

Veterans Jim Thomson and Fern Flaman head the defence crew. When the Leafs open their home season against Chicago October 11, they will be joined by three others chosen from Hugh Bolton and Jim Morrison, who saw some N.H.L. action last season, and rookies Leo Boivin, Tim Horton and Frank Sullivan, up from Pittsburgh.

The shakeup has extended to every forward line on the team with none intact from last season although the final setup has not yet been decided. Right wing Tod Sloan has been shifted from his old spot with Ted Kennedy and Sid Smith to centre between Harry Watson and Howie Meeker. Ron Stewart, Calgary-born right winger who played junior hockey last season, is playing with Kennedy and Smith.

So far, it's not definite that the Sloan switch will be final. Primeau emphasized the tryout at centre is experimental. When opening night comes along he may be back with Kennedy and Smith. This threesome was Toronto's most powerful scoring line last season.

BRAND-NEW LINE

One of the top forward lines in training is headed by blonde Bob Hassard, lanky native of Lloydminster, Sask., who played with the Hornets last season. He is flanked by Gord Hannigan, brother of Ray, on left wing and Bob Sabourin, up from Toronto St. Michael's College juniors, on right. Sabourin is a training replacement for George Armstrong, who was going great guns until he suffered a shoulder separation in the physical training. He will be out of action for six weeks or so.

Rudy Migay, Bob Solinger and Andy Barbe, all up from the Hornets, form another potent forward combination. Migay and Solinger both had turns with the Leafs last season.

MAX COMING BACK

The other veteran is Max Bentley who stayed home on his farm near Delisle, Sask., to clean up the wheat harvest before joining the team. He was expected to report this week.

Primeau saw added strength for his team this season in the versatility of some players. In addition to Morrison, who can play defense, centre or left wing, he has Stewart who can double as a defenseman, Migay who can play wing or centre, and Sloan centre or right wing.

Three other regular members of the 1950-51 team have gone along with Rollins, Mortson and Gardner. They are Workhorse Joe Klukay, sold to Boston, defensemen Bill Puzda and left wing Ray Timgren, both assigned to Pittsburgh.

Joe and Ab Travis Sign With Civil Service Club

Civil Service is beginning to look more and more like the team to beat in the Victoria and District Football Association this season.

Manager Bob Bell announced yesterday that Joe and Ab Travis, former members of Victoria United and with Vancouver clubs in the Coast Soccer League last season, have been signed.

Joe Travis has signed as spare goalie. He is not interested in playing regularly since he is coaching a juvenile club. Ab Travis will play regularly.

Civil Service, with Joe Travis in goal and Ab Travis at outside left, will attempt to break a three-way tie for first place when they meet Heaney's at Windsor Park tomorrow at 2.30 p.m.

Legion and Canadian Scottish will meet in another game Sunday afternoon at Royal Athletic Park at the same time.

Line-ups follow:

Civil Service—Joe Travis, Bert Ingram, Bill Bamford, Hal Walroyd, Don Dendry, George Wilson, Chick Clark, Jack Thompson, Don McGee, Jack McIntyre, Pete Blair, Mel Davison, Ab Travis.

Heaneys—Gordon Barray, Dave Burt, Dave Wright, Alex Walker, Jack Donald, Stan Wisenger, Frank Greeley, George Preston, Ralph Shandley, Irwin Lebus, Bev Pottinger, Bob Pearce, Mel Stillars, Don Wakelin, Bob Kay and Fred McIlvean.

Canadian Scottish—Bob Sherratt, Jon Wilkinson, Ted Dover Masters, Jim Caldwell, Doug Day, Dic Wilkinson, Bl Jagger, Con Quarterhand, Denny Wells, Jim Aitkin, [illegible] Les Kosat, Gordie Mohson, Bill Pendleton, Fred Merriman, Charlie Pe., Norm Blanchard, Harold Kollaschinski.

Legion—John Moss, Dave Male, Frank Lohbet, Len Potter, John Waldon, Art McCormick, Ken Sheddon, Les Williams, Ken Griffin, Arnold Vems, Jim Davison, Ron Pearce, Andy Anderson, Pete Vessa and Dave Whiteside.

Marciano Gets Royal Welcome In Home Town

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 2 (AP) — Rocky Marciano, world's heavyweight boxing champion, came home to a hero's welcome today while a police estimated crowd of 60,000 to 100,000 persons roared their approval.

The conqueror of Jersey Joe Walcott was buried under an avalanche of confetti and torn paper during an open-car ride of three miles through the city's business centre and environs.

Police said that the ovation was even greater than that accorded the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Truman when they visited this city during campaigns.

Hundreds of Brockton police, associates from surrounding communities and state troopers were required to hold back the crowds as they tried to press in to shake hands with "their champion."

Marciano, who was presented a Cadillac automobile by a group of 40 friends at a night dinner, described the reception as "the highlight of my career."

Bay Meadows Outsider Pays $341 to Win

SAN MATEO, Calif., Oct. 2 (AP). A two-year-old outsider that paid off $341.20 on a $2 win ticket stole the show at Bay Meadows today.

Vex, owned by V. V. Long and Son of Oklahoma City, Okla., was ridden by jockey Robert Ford, of Phoenix, Ariz., to a nose victory over Pistolo in the seventh race, a mile event.

Vex returned $341.20, $131.60 and $45.10, the longest price in Northern California since Tohi 3 returned $152 at Tanforan April 23, 1947. Vex campaigned in Denver this summer. He covered the winning mile in 1:41.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD

Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Because many golfers take little exercise, their hands lack the toughness and muscles capable of maintaining the clubhead speed produced by the arms and the pivot. As a result the clubhead lags behind the hands at impact, producing a slice. Or such players, at best, get fluffy shots that go no distance to speak of because the hand-action is missing. If you feel your hands are not strong enough to maintain the clubhead speed produced by the downswing of the arms and pivot, then you should slow down your stroke to make sure you pour hand-action into the stroke during the last third of the downswing to the ball. You'll find that by slowing your swing and depending upon rhythm more than on power, your hands will flow into the stroke rhythm will provide the acceleration your hands will be able to maintain the clubhead speed and you'll play a definitely better game.

Indians Enter Kiner Bidding

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP).—General manager Hank Greenberg said today his Cleveland Indians will bid for Pittsburgh's home-run slugger Ralph Kiner if they get a chance.

"We'd love to have him," Hank told a reporter. "I'm afraid, though, it won't be possible to get him out of the National League. Too many clubs would like to have him."

Greenberg also said he has been sounded out by other clubs on the availability of Larry Doby and Ray Boone.

Newspapermen here at the world series say the St. Louis Browns and the Detroit Tigers want both of these players. Detroit never has had a Negro player, but expressed interest in Doby last June.

Russia Claims Shot Put Mark

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (AP). — The Soviet claimed today that Galina Zyhina had bettered her own world record in the shot put.

It was reported that she had achieved a distance of 50 feet, 7.0 inches in a meet in Frunze, Central Asia, a short time ago.

Miss Zyhina won the event in the Helsinki Olympics with a world record toss of 50 feet, 2.58 inches.

Six Horses Spill At Detroit Track

DETROIT, Oct. 2 (AP). Six horses spilled today in one of the worst racing accidents in Hazel Park's history and four jockeys were sent to hospital.

Two of them, Fred Redmon and Henry Manifold, suffered broken collarbones.

The spill occurred in the first race when Gambling Lady crossed her legs going into the far turn and fell into Red Wood. The other horses spilled over them like ten pins.

Ball Club Prize Charged Lottery

OTTAWA, Oct. 2 (AP). — Magistrate Glenn Strike today committed the Ottawa Athletics Baseball Club, Inc., for trial in a higher court on a charge of operating a lottery.

The charge was laid against the A's for a stunt August 12. Myrna Lumsden, 18, holder of a winning ticket in a draw, was allowed to keep all the nickels she could carry from a pile at the pitching mound.

Detective-Sergeant Borden Conley testified he watched Miss Lumsden carry off the 75-pound load of nickels after her ticket number was announced. Miss Lumsden said she counted up $384.95 in nickels.

Magistrate Strike set trial date at October 23.

Handicap Meet At Uplands Starts Sunday

Play for the Uplands Golf Club handicap tournament and the Feesey Cup will open next Sunday at the Uplands Golf Course.

The tournament consists of an 18-hole qualifying round followed by match play on succeeding Sundays until a champion is declared.

Rolly Ferris will not be on hand to defend the trophy.

Draw and starting times follow:

Post entries will be accepted.

Graham Faces Second Chance

HAVANA, Oct. 2 (AP). Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan of Cuba and challenger Billy Graham of New York today wound up training for their 15-round title bout Saturday night with each predicting a decisive victory.

This is the fourth meeting of the two 147-pounders, the second with the championship at stake. All three previous fights were as close as the hands of the clock at midnight. Gavilan has a 2-1 edge in the series.

United Plans No Line-Up Changes For Tomorrow's Match With City

With one possible exception, Victoria United will field the same club tomorrow which scored an easy 4-1 victory over Vancouver Firefighters in the Coast Soccer League opener last Saturday.

United's second match, starting at 2.30 at Royal Athletic Park, will be against Vancouver City, Province Cup champions who lost their league start to St. Andrews, 1-0.

PICKBURN MAY PLAY

Club president George Eade stated last night that the only possible change would be the inclusion of John Pickburn at right half for Billy Johnson. Pickburn has been out of action with a knee injury but will play if he feels fit. The club plans to take no chances with re-injury and will rest him another week if necessary.

Eade also disclosed that there appears to be little chance that Sid Robbins will turn out with the club this season. However United was fortunate in obtaining the services of Harry Carruthers, former Legion player who indicated last Saturday that he will be able to handle the important centre-half position in Coast League style.

TEAM STRONGER

United victory hopes are high. The club gave promise last Saturday of being stronger than last season's league champions. The defense remains solid with Bill Hope and Joe Robbins giving goalie Bill McAllister steady protection.

Carruthers centres a sturdy half line which has an improved [illegible] will have John Pickburn on the other. Ray Wilkinson is expected to add punch and finesse in the forward line as soon as he accustoms himself to the new-to-him style of play. Jack Robbins, trying to fill an inside spot, is among the first to admit he didn't play well last Saturday but he should improve. And there is every reason to think that youthful Alex Stewart, who will be worked in slowly, will develop into a standout winger.

STRONG RESERVES

Another cause for hope is the club's strong reserves which list Tim Walker, Stewart and veteran Cliff Robbins available for duty in addition to either Pickburn or Johnson.

City, surprise winner of the Province Cup, has been hurt by transfers of four key players. Goalie Jack Bissett went to North Shore, halfback Jack Dewhirst [illegible] Royals pilfered Alan Sawyer and Ollie Stanley.

However several sturdy players from the Vancouver district league have been added along with ex-Victoria Stan Bob and Doug Jesperson, once with St. Andrews. And the holdovers such as Brian and Pat Philley, Joe Jordan and Denny Rogers, are good.

Line-ups:

Victoria United—Bill McAllister, Bill Hope, Joe Robbins, John Pickburn or Bill Johnson, Harry Carruthers, Denny McGee; Cedric Robb, Jack Robbins, Wallace Milligan, Ray Wilkinson, Pernie Clarkson. Spares: Pickburn or Johnson, Alex Stewart, Tim Walker and Cliff Robbins.

House Approval Urged Before Any Alcoa Deal

No deal should be made between British Columbia and the Aluminum Company of America without full approval of the provincial legislature, according to Opposition Leader Harold Winch.

Mr. Winch, in a letter to Premier W. A. C. Bennett, reported that a recent C.C.F. caucus unanimously urged that the government approach the Alcoa proposal for use of B.C. water resources with extreme caution.

Alcoa has announced plans for a $400,000,000 aluminum smelter near Skagway, Alaska. The smelter would operate on power drawn from the Atlin watershed, which lies mostly in the northwestern corner of B.C.

Any such proposal should be thoroughly investigated, Mr. Winch warned. An agreement with Alcoa should only be made with the House's approval.

[illegible] have the resources of this province been alienated under the authority of the lieutenant-governor-in-council (the provincial cabinet)," Mr. Winch said.

Appeals To End Strike Made to Government

The provincial government yesterday received two requests for action in the current B.C. fishermen's strike.

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union asked Labor Minister Lyle Wicks to "use the prerogatives of your office" to get the bogged-down negotiations between fishermen and the packing companies back on the track.

C.C.F. leader Harold Winch urged the provincial cabinet to "take every possible step to influence the federal authorities to take remedial action for the protection of B.C.'s fishing industry."

B.C.'s salmon fishermen have been on strike for five weeks. They refused to accept lower prices offered by the companies for fall chum salmon.

These prices—from 5½ to 7½ cents a pound—would mean "exorbitant profit margins to the companies and unbearable cuts in take-home pay to the fishermen," they said. The fishermen charged the companies with failing to bargain in good faith.

They also appealed to the federal government to set a floor price under salmon, and to take action to "clear the channels of world trade" to increase export sales of salmon.

Ontario Ready for Visit To Major Port in Chile

Special to The Colonist

ABOARD H.M.C.S. ONTARIO, Oct. 2.—This warship will visit its first major South American port this week end. The 9,000-ton cruiser is expected to reach Valparaiso, Chile, early Friday morning.

Present plans call for the cruiser to stay at the port five days, and during that time officers and men will participate in a wide variety of activities. Entertainment officer I. C. Inglis has lined up such activities as baseball, soccer, water polo and a dance for the seamen.

One of the first official duties of Capt. E. P. Tisdall, commanding officer, when the ship reaches the big Chilean port will be to call on Leon Mayrand of Montreal, Canadian Ambassador to Chile.

While at Valparaiso the Ontario will be open to the public and a big crowd is expected aboard to see how the Canadian navy lives. Another highlight of the visit will be a party for children of Canadian, British and American residents of the area.

For the past several days, carpenters aboard the ship have been using much of their spare time for the building of booths, slides and merry-go-round chairs for the party. Head of the plans for the children's party is Lieut. Aubrey Keragania of Victoria.

Over the past several weeks the ship's ceremonial guard has been undergoing extensive training and practice and will carry out its first major job at this Chilean port. Since leaving Esquimalt September 8, the Ontario has traveled more than 6,000 miles.

Six Islanders Pass Exams

Six men from Vancouver Island, including four from Victoria, have passed the final law examinations conducted by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of British Columbia.

They are G. L. Harwood, W. G. Homenuk, D. A. Munro and R. G. C. Nicholl of Victoria and R. G. Newman and W. K. Trusler of Port Alberni.

The candidates successful in passing the intermediate law examinations were H. R. Campbell, A. K. Hill and M. H. Robinson of Victoria and J. W. Greig and W. D. Ilott of Nanaimo and G. W. Vogt of Port Alberni.

Well-Known Dress Shop Changes Hands

The old-established Victoria ladies' wear business of Dick's Dress Shoppe off Douglas Street has changed ownership.

The new owner is W. G. (Bill) Flett who has had a long association with Victoria, and has been with the Hudson's Bay Company for the past 26 years as buyer of ladies ready-to-wear fashions.

During that time, Mr. Flett was posted in Vancouver, Victoria, Calgary and Montreal.

Style trends and market conditions have been his special study for many years, and Mr. Flett will assume the personal management of Dick's Dress Shoppe.

"Our policy will be to carry complete lines of style merchandising in the medium price groups," said Mr. Flett.

Convention Expenses Problem Dropped Back in Mayor's Lap

Council Says Five Must Attend

Mayor Claude Harrison will be asked to "figure out" what to do about an estimated cost of $800 to send five officials to a convention, when there is only $400 in the budget.

The finance committee was informed yesterday that it would cost $800 to send the mayor and four others to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Vernon next week.

They learned that it would cost $590 to send three officials.

"Refer it back to the mayor," said Ald. Waldo Skillings. "Let him figure it out. He's opposed to all this traveling around."

The mayor earlier in the year suggested that only the city solicitor go to the convention.

Council later decided to send City Manager Cecil Wyett, two aldermen, the solicitor and the mayor.

Aldermen Percy Scurrah and Robert Macmillan were appointed by the mayor to attend.

Suspended Sentence Granted in Car Case

Two youths who took a "hot rod" car September 20 from in front of a dance pavilion without the owner's consent and then smashed it up in an accident were granted a suspended sentence in Saanich police court yesterday.

Magistrate H. C. Hall let the youths off after their lawyer told the court restitution had been made to the owner of the car and that both had a good record.

But the magistrate gave them something to think about. They were ordered: Not to drive for a year, to report to the probation officer once a month "or oftener" and be advised on choice of companions, stay away from intoxicating liquor.

They were also ordered to post bond of $500 each as a guarantee the conditions would be fulfilled [illegible] offense of this type and walk out, there would be little enforcement of the law." Magistrate Hall told them sternly.

City Police On Watch For Alaska Fugitives

Victoria police have been asked to keep a wary eye out for a scar-faced murder suspect and his snaggle-toothed companion—both fugitives from an Alaska jail.

The teletype request from the F.B.I. in Alaska was forwarded by the R.C.M.P. in Whitehorse, Yukon Territory.

[illegible] gerous, the two men, Frank Charles Oliver, 37, and Charles Leroy Oughton, 43, escaped from a United States federal jail at Seward, Alaska, September 27, after slugging a guard.

The murder-suspect is five feet, eight inches tall, police said, weighing 152 pounds. He has a ruddy complexion, blue eyes, high-bridged nose and a scar on his forehead.

Oliver, a cook, is the same [illegible] weighing about 180 pounds. He is also described as having a ruddy complexion and receding brown hair.

Cerebral Palsy Body To Be Independent

If a cerebral palsy association made up of parents of sufferers and representatives from interested groups is formed in Victoria, it will not be under the jurisdiction of the Cerebral Palsy Association of B.C.

Mrs. P. G. W. Dufour, secretary of the Pythian cerebral [illegible] which is now organizing the association here, said the local organization would, however, trade information and help with the C.P.A. of B.C.—a Vancouver group.

The committee secretary emphasized the Pythian group would be only one member body of the city-wide cerebral palsy organization to be formed here.

She said the Pythian committee would continue to work for the benefit of palsy victims on its own, as well as a member of the [illegible]

The organization being formed in this city would possibly be extended to cover Vancouver Island, Mrs. Dufour said.

Doctors, Technicians To See Clinic Opened

A number of Victoria doctors and technicians will attend the official opening of the new clinic at the British Columbia Cancer Institute in Vancouver Monday.

Many others are planning to attend the refresher course [illegible] ing the week.

Among those who plan to attend the official opening, which will be conducted by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace are Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thow, Mr. and Mrs. George Masters, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Edmison, Dr. N. S. Lochyer, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Rickinson, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. L. Scace and Dr. and Mrs. H. H. [illegible]

Among outstanding doctors in cancer research who will attend are Dr. Stanford Kade and Prof. B. Winder of England.

VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1952

New Run Adds To Company's Island Link

BY JIM NESBITT

Stronger foothold of the Puget Sound Navigation of Seattle in British Columbia water transportation recalls that William James Macaulay, grandfather of the company's president, Capt. Alexander Peabody, was an early-day lumber king of Vancouver Island.

The Seattle company's B.C. Black Ball Line next summer will link Vancouver and Nanaimo in a speedy service. Already it has a service between the Sechelt Peninsula and Vancouver and, when road connections are through, will have a Vancouver-Powell River link.

Captain Peabody for years managed the fleet of ferries operating between Seattle and Puget Sound ports. A few years ago the fleet was taken over by Washington State government, leaving the Puget Sound Navigation Company with the streamliner Chinook on the Seattle-Port Angeles-Victoria run.

Since then, Captain Peabody has been steadily building up his business in the province where his grandfather became a rich man.

DURING THE 80'S

William Macaulay and his brother Alexander, came to Victoria in the 80's. Alexander's son, Henry, became the first Mayor of Dawson in the Yukon.

William Macaulay, with Charles Peabody of Port Townsend, interested themselves in Vancouver Island timber, negotiated a deal with Robert Dunsmuir, who was given, by the government of the day, millions in timber for building the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway.

Macaulay and Peabody formed a syndicate with John A. Humbird, E. J. Palmer, John E. Glover and W. H. Phipps, which resulted in the giant mills which still roar at Chemainus.

Macaulay, in 1889, built a big home on the waterfront here—a three-story home, with a tower, from where he could see ships rounding Race Rocks. He called his miniature estate "Pinehurst." The Colonist of January 1, 1890, listing new buildings of the previous year, noted: "Mr. Macaulay, on the Dallas Road, a handsome Queen Anne house, $25,000." The house stands yet, a few blocks west of Douglas.

MARRIED PARTNER

At "Pinehurst," Macaulay's daughter was married to his partner: May 27, 1891—"Cupid's Work—Mr. Charles Peabody of Port Townsend was married Monday evening to Miss Lilly Macaulay. The wedding took place at the residence of the lady's parents, Rev. Father Nicholaye officiating. The happy couple left for Harrison's Springs after the ceremony."

About 10 years later, with much money rolling in from his Vancouver Island timber holdings and sawmills, Macaulay built "The Highlands," a more imposing residence on the high part of Rockland Avenue hill, now the home of Mrs. Mariam Coultas. There he died in 1902. Mrs. Macaulay went to live with her daughter, Mrs. Peabody, in Seattle, and died there in 1906.

The Puget Sound Navigation Company, now headed by the grandson of William Macaulay, has had a long and colorful connection with Victoria. Its ships have engaged in rate wars and speed contests with the C.P.R.'s "Princesses." Once the rate war was so keen you could travel between Victoria and Seattle for 25 cents.

HIGHLY EXCITING

The speed contests were highly exciting, and passengers never knew when suddenly they'd be in a breathtaking race over the waters. Colonist of May 14, 1904, tells of one: "The hearts of E. J. Coyle, general passenger agent, and B. W. Greer, assistant freight agent of the C.P.R. were made glad yesterday afternoon when, as passengers from Seattle, on the Princess Beatrice, they witnessed an incident which recalled the palmy days of steamboat racing on the Mississippi River.

"The Beatrice sighted the Whatcom (of the Puget Sound Navigation Company) coming out of Port Townsend, and the signal was passed to the stokers, who soon had the funnel 'smoking up' vigorously. The crew of the Whatcom was similarly disposed and both steamers were soon going at top speed.

BEATRICE WINS

"Slowly but surely, the Beatrice overhauled her rival and soon they were going neck and neck. The passengers were highly interested in the race, which was not without exciting features. The Beatrice proved the speedier boat, and rounded the Outer Wharf first; but not more than a steamer's length separated them at that point. The Beatrice docked first."

There were other famous Puget Sound ships through the years—the Chippewa, the Indianapolis, the Clallam, which foundered off Trial Island; the Sol Duc, which could roll and pitch like no other boat; the Iroquois, which the Chinook succeeded five years ago.

Chest Campaign Total Reaches 42 Per Cent

The Red Feather campaign in Victoria and district late yesterday reached 40 per cent of a total objective of $195,000.

The figure—coming at the end of the fourth day of campaigning—meant an average return each day of 10 per cent of the objective.

It coincided with an announcement that the campaign would be continued beyond the original one week announced at the beginning of the drive Monday.

A record-breaking return in rural Metchosin, where 186 per cent of the local quota has been contributed, helped boost the over-all average.

Central Saanich collectors were bowling along at a nice 83 per cent of a $2,000 quota and Langford was third with 68 per cent.

Victoria, where the task of canvassing is a major one, had 38 per cent of a $107,000 objective—the big share of the over-all total.

View Royal-Admirals, where the objective was oversubscribed in record time last year, is trailing this year with 31 per cent.

Other percentages and quotas were: Sidney-Deep Cove, 63⅓ per cent of $1,000; Oak Bay, 39 per cent of $34,000; Saanich, 41 per cent of $27,200; Esquimalt, 52⅓ per cent of $10,000.

Cemtery Lots Up for Sale

The city has about 60 Ross Bay Cemetery lots for sale for $75 and $100, city clerk Frank Hunter announced yesterday.

About 80 were sold to the public last year. Mr. Hunter said the 60 offered now may be the last available at Ross Bay for many years.

Most can be used for two burials.

Further information is available at the office of the city clerk in City Hall.

Hart Output Sets Records

Two output records were set in August at the B.C. Power Commission's big John Hart plant at Campbell River.

Power production for the month was 36,440,000 kilowatt-hours, highest in the plant's five-year history and an increase of 5,000,000 kilowatt hours over July.

A new one-day record of 1,175,-684 kilowatt hours also was set in August.

Glasses Save Eyesight

Examining tar-covered glasses credited with saving the eyesight of Ted Stefanek, 847 Selkirk, after an oven explosion in his home last night, George Gilbert, 858 Selkirk, who saw the flames and notified Esquimalt police, kneels beside the burned, tar-covered stove in the kitchen of the Stefanek home where the blast occurred. Meeting Without Results

Everybody came to the meeting, but nobody managed to talk.

So the get-together between representatives of the carpenters' union and the Victoria Building Exchange Ltd. at the Labor Relations Board offices here yesterday failed to accomplish anything.

W. J. Hamilton, president of the exchange, said no definite results were obtained "as the union representatives claimed they were not aware of the purpose of the meeting and did not send the committee with power to act."

A union spokesman said Mr. Hamilton's statement was substantially correct.

"We didn't know what the meeting was all about," he said. "As far as we are concerned, there is nothing to argue about."

The meeting had been described as an attempt to settle a dispute over a carpenters' union claim it had not been able to obtain satisfaction from the contractors on a new agreement.

A tentative agreement setting rates of pay for carpenters in this area was signed by union and exchange representatives in the Labor Relations Board office September 11.

Alberta Treasury Branches May Be Tried by B.C. Socreds

Alberta-style treasury branches will be opened where and when they are required in British Columbia, according to Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Speaking at the Edgewater Social Credit rally that nominated Attorney-General Robert Bonner to contest the seat left vacant by the resignation of R. O. Newton, the premier said that the treasury branches would be opened and operated on the same principle as they are in Alberta.

Alberta's Social Credit government operates 45 treasury branches, 14 sub-branches and 106 agencies. Although not "banks" within the meaning of the Dominion Bank Act, and not spoken of as such, the government says the branches can best be described by comparing them with a system of branch banks.

As of December 31, 1951, there were 56,502 depositors and deposits by the public totaled $32,-030,139. Outstanding loans at the same time amounted to $18,-555,917.

ACCOUNTS, LOANS

Current and savings accounts are operated. Funds on deposit can be withdrawn at any time by depositors in cash or by the issue of cash orders or transfer vouchers. A "cash order" is the treasury equivalent of a cheque.

There are two types of savings accounts: "demand savings" from which funds can be withdrawn at any time and on which interest is paid at 1½ per cent, and "term savings" in which deposits are left for a minimum of one year and on which interest is paid at two per cent.

The government claims interest charges on treasury branch loans are the lowest obtainable in Canada. Loans are made for any legitimate purpose except long-term capital use.

Other services include purchase and sale of foreign exchange, issue of money orders, drafts, travelers' cheques, foreign remittances, transfers of money by mail or telegraph, collection of drafts for commercial enterprises, safekeeping of valuables either in sealed envelopes or safe-deposit boxes and purchase and sale of stocks and bonds.

INSURANCE, TOO

Beyond the ordinary field of banking, the treasury branch services include the writing of fire insurance for the Alberta General Insurance Co., a Crown corporation, and of hail insurance for the Alberta Hail Insurance Board, the issuing of automobile, truck and drivers' licenses, and collection of taxes for municipal districts.

The treasury branch system, begun in 1938, is a division of the provincial treasury and operates under the Treasury Branches Act.

A sub-branch differs from a full branch in that it opens only on specified week-days attended by two or more representatives of the nearest branch. The services of the agencies are more limited.

Labor Body To Convene At Nanaimo

VANCOUVER, Oct. 2 (CP).—Provincial branches of Canada's two largest labor organizations will hold their annual conventions within the next few months, one on Vancouver Island.

Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.) will meet in Nanaimo December 10, 11 and 12 and B.C. Federation of Labor (C.C.L.) will meet in Vancouver in the first week of February.

Meanwhile the district convention of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) has been set for January 19 in Vancouver.

Legion Branch To Celebrate

Esquimalt branch of the Canadian Legion will mark the eighth anniversary of its founding at a birthday party tonight in the clubrooms at 622 Admirals Road. Members and guests are invited to the event which begins at 8 p.m.

Capital Planners To Study Scheme

—AROUND TOWN—

The capital regional planning board is expected to meet soon to discuss plans for a multi-million-dollar resort centre on Portage Inlet and a race track on upper Burnside Road.

Royal Portage Parks Ltd. has asked the board to approve its plan for the two projects.

An application for rezoning to permit construction of the race track is now before the Saanich town planning commission. An earlier application for rezoning of the Portage Inlet site was turned down by the View Royal board of appeal. This board's decision will be appealed to the provincial department of municipal affairs.

Arrives Overseas

JOHN A. R. COOPE

Has arrived in England to study towards his Ph.D. in theoretical chemistry at Oxford on a $1,500-a-year National Research Council fellowship. Son of Mrs. Rosalind Coope, 1811 Chandler, he was educated at Duncan Grammar School, Qualicum Beach School and Victoria College before attending U.B.C. where his M.A. degree will be presented in absentia this fall. In recent years Mr. Coope has won six other scholarships.

Island Students Winners

Four Vancouver Island students are included in a list of winners of University of British Columbia scholarships and bursaries offered annually by British Columbia Forest Products Ltd. to sons and daughters of its employees.

Roy Westwick, Honeymoon Bay, was awarded a $300 scholarship, based on high standing in last June's examinations.

Robert J. Chouinard, Youbou, was awarded a $250 bursary for work in first year arts.

Bursary of $250 was awarded to Sylvia Southin, Victoria, and a bursary of $300 was awarded to Donald A. MacKay, Youbou, to continue their studies in chemistry and zoology.

Picture Gift To City Hall

An anonymous donor has given the city of Victoria a large portrait of Queen Victoria for the council chamber.

City Manager Cecil Wyatt told the finance committee the donor—a woman—had attended council meetings at City Hall and felt that a city named after Queen Victoria should have a good portrait of her in the council chamber.

Victoria Man Dies in Fall Down Shaft

Roland Osmand Taylor, 71, Ash Road, Gordon Head, was killed yesterday when he fell down an elevator shaft in the chemistry building at the University of Saskatchewan.

He was in Saskatoon visiting his daughter, Mrs. S. D. Cavers, and her husband, who is a professor of chemical engineering at the university. He was sightseeing in the building when he stepped into the shaft.

Born in Halifax, he had been a resident of Saanich for eight years. He is survived by his widow; three sons, Drummond, in Oak Bay, Cameron in Ontario, and Roland, Quesnel, B.C.; three daughters, Mrs. Cavers, Mrs. Margaret S. Neave, Victoria, and Mrs. Hope Harrison, Vancouver; two brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Monday in St. Luke's Church. Rev. Canon F. Pike will officiate and the service will be followed by cremation. Hayward's Chapel is in charge of arrangements.

Meeting Marks Bible Printing

QUALICUM BEACH, Oct. 2.—Celebrating the publishing of the new Standard Revised Version of the Bible, and marking the 500th anniversary of the printing of the first Bible by John Gutenberg in Germany, a meeting was held at the Community Hall on Tuesday night, with members of the United Church and those of the Anglican Church taking part in the special service.

Winter Boat Runs Return to Normal In Protest's Wake

Restoration of the fast day-boat service during the winter months between Vancouver and Victoria was announced yesterday by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The step which follows protests led by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, will see the return next Wednesday of one of the popular fast daylight boats.

The run will be taken by the Princess Marguerite, and will do the double journey fast enough to enable Victoria passengers to catch the eastbound trains each evening in Vancouver.

The announcement was made yesterday to the executive of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Claude Harrison by William Manson, vice-president of the C.P.R.'s Pacific region.

The new schedule announced by the C.P.R. is similar to the one which was in effect last winter.

BIG IMPROVEMENT

Commenting on the return to the same winter service as in 1951-52, Mr. Manson said the C.P.R. was willing to explore again the service in the hopes the volume of winter traffic would show a big improvement between Victoria and Vancouver.

Early in September the C.P.R. announced that it would withdraw both its popular fast daylight boats—the Princess Patricia and the Princess Marguerite—altogether from the daylight service during the seven winter months.

This meant that the daylight service would have been taken over by the two slower night boats, the Princess Joan and the Princess Elizabeth, which would also, by all round-the-clock operation, maintain the daily daytime run between Victoria and Seattle as well.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce, through its president T. G. Denny, immediately lodged a complaint and met officials of the C.P.R., explaining that the new service was an inferior one and that Victoria travelers would be seriously handicapped by being unable to catch the eastbound trains out of Vancouver each evening as the slow boats were not able to reach the Mainland city in time.

PROTEST BY WIRE

Mayor Harrison also protested on behalf of the City of Victoria by wire to C.P.R. president W. A. Mather.

The Canadian Pacific Railway officials received various suggestions by the chamber, the result of which is the restoration of the former service.

The slow day-boat service went into effect on October 1, but the C.P.R. expects to have the Princess Marguerite back into operation in time to take the day run from Vancouver next Wednesday morning.

In the redrafted schedule the Princess Marguerite will leave Vancouver at 9.40 a.m., and will arrive in Victoria at 1.55 p.m. The return journey to Vancouver will be made at 2.45 p.m. and will arrive at 6.55 p.m.

The Nanaimo-Vancouver service is also revised. The Princess of Nanaimo will now do only two daily runs on this route with the night run being taken by the Princess Marguerite.

Chamber Given Credit

Mayor Claude Harrison was happy about the decision of the C.P.R. to restore fast service to Victoria and was willing to let the Chamber of Commerce take the credit.

"I am pleased to tell you the C.P.R. boats will be back as before," he told council yesterday.

The mayor attended a meeting with William Manson, vice-president of the C.P.R. Pacific region, and Chamber of Commerce officials yesterday morning.

Mayor Harrison recently had sent two wires of protest to W. R. Mather, president of the company.

It is not known if the mayor's actions had anything to do with the C.P.R. decision, but is understood he was prepared to bring up during discussions the $65,000 tax concession given the rail company by the city on the Empress Hotel and the Crystal Garden.

Labor Board Strife Dismissed by Wicks

Reports of dissension between the Social Credit government and the B.C. Labor Relations Board were dismissed as "all a pipe-dream" by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks yesterday.

The minister made the statement despite the fact that he had received the written resignation of one member of the board, and that the provincial cabinet is scheduled to deal with the matter at a special session Saturday.

The resigning board member is George Wilkinson who is reported to be "fed up" with government interference in the board's handling of labor problems.

Reports persisted yesterday that other members would resign soon.

Mr. Wicks insisted that he had "always had the best of relations" with the labor board.

He said he had had Mr. Wilkinson's "verbal resignation" for six weeks. Mr. Wilkinson was leaving to take a post in industry, he said, and his resignation "had nothing to do with any thought of any dissension or difficulty."

He admitted that Mr. Wilkinson had now put his resignation in writing, "but I haven't reviewed the contents yet."

Late yesterday afternoon Mr. Wilkinson conferred with Mr. Wicks for an hour. The meeting, he said, was "most harmonious."

Mr. Wicks said he will call a meeting of the full labor relations board "some of these times."

Minister Has Answer To Snowsell's Charge

C.C.F. M.L.A. Frank Snowsell is "absolutely incorrect" in his claim that the new Social Credit dollar-a-day plan is ruining small B.C. hospitals, according to Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin.

Mr. Snowsell recently said that under the new dollar-a-day plan, hospitals were receiving an average of $2 less per patient-day than they did under the former co-insurance system.

Mr. Martin said there has been no change in the hospitals' revenue.

"The hospitals receive, under the dollar-a-day plan, their full per diem rate for each day's stay, less $1 for the patient's dollar-a-day contribution.

"Under the co-insurance plan, the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service paid the full per diem rate less the co-insurance charges.

"Therefore . . . the financial state of the hospitals, both large and small, remains absolutely unchanged," Mr. Martin said.

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS.

Would you believe that an "understated" make-up is a very desirable one? Because of its very naturalness that bypasses hard artificiality you certainly will be noticed and remembered for a wholesome look. Over emphasizing any one—or what is [illegible] ture can be too theatrical for everyday living.

Always compliment your own soft coloring. Knowing how to apply your make-up does much to make you lovlier whether you are 16 or 60.

A foundation for your face powder is an excellent first step. It gives your skin a glow and will help conceal tiny blemishes until they disappear. Pave the way for that smoothie look by dotting your forehead, cheeks, nose, chin and throat lightly and then thinly and evenly blending.

Then add your rouge again blending this softly until it appears natural. A dusting of finely milled face powder over this gives you the delicate transparent look that is so youthful and fresh. This is the look to promote all fall and winter as feminine fashions demand the prettiest YOU that can be projected.

Apply lipstick that matches or carries out the same tone as your rouge. Trace a firm outline of your lips—or the shape you desire—and then fill in with lipstick.

Use a light hand when applying eye make-up for daytime. Mascara to edge the tips of your [illegible] blink of the eyes and you are as pretty and vibrant looking as possible.

Just remember not to be heavy handed and your make-up will take on the light look.

Cheese Souffle Uses Up Surplus

BY KAY REX

Food surpluses aren't healthy, not when there's no place for them to go. Housewives can help with the cheese surplus.

J. D. Hunt, of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, told a meeting in Stratford recently that he wasn't in any position to "paint any rosy picture of the future," not with the present surplus of cheese.

The Stratford group was told that [illegible] coming into the Ontario market at a lower price than the home product. This is one of the economic facets of a general problem.

There are all kinds of good cheese dishes, and here's one—cheese souffle.

Use two tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, one-half cup scalded milk, one half teaspoon salt, few grains cayenne, one-half cup grated old cheese, yolks of three eggs, whites of three eggs.

Melt butter, add flour, mix well and add gradually scalded milk. Then add salt, cayenne and cheese Add egg yolks which have been well beaten and cool mixture Fold in egg whites beaten stiff. Pour into buttered baking-dish and bake 20 minutes in slow oven, about 300 degrees fahrenheit. Serve immediately

CONSUMER COMMENTS

High and low ovens were discussed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Consumers at Toronto. Delegates learned that a survey among United States housewives disclosed that women over 40, who have had more experience with the high oven, were in favor of it. On the other hand women under 40 favored the low-type oven.

Mrs. Christine White of Winnipeg said at one session that she wished manufacturers would produce more good utility stoves — and ones minus the "fancy" gadgets.

Mrs. Jean Butterfield of Toronto, head of the association's consumer research committee, suggested to the group that manufacturers of rubber rings be requested to stamp the date of manufacture on each package. She recalled a C.A.C. investigation of the complaint that "rubber rings for sealers are often too thin."

Manufacturers had been asked for their views. They said that humidity is known to affect rubber and it is impossible to control this factor, although it was con[illegible] a rubber ring

"As to the shelf-life of the rubber ring, it should be renewed each year," said Mrs. Butterfield. "Rubber oxidizes, especially at high temperatures, and changes in the rubber occur, resulting in hardness. If the housewife uses rings which have remained in the retail stores or in her own cupboard for too long a time the rings might seem to be too thin."

Closet Smell Taken Away

READING, England, Oct. 2 (Reuters) — To get rid of that musty smell a suit takes on after hanging in a closet for several weeks, a firm here is producing chemically impregnated suits that keep them "smelling sweet" the year round. S. A. Album said odor-killing chlorophyllin, introduced into cloth by steam pressing, absorbs odors and converts them into oxygen.

Weaves Robe For Queen

LONDON, Oct 2 (AP).—The task of weaving the royal purple velvet which the Queen will wear in her coronation robe next June 2 goes to Lily Lee, a middle-aged craftswoman. Miss Lee wove the velvet for the robe the Queen Mother used at her coronation in 1937.

Married in Toronto

Of interest in Victoria is the marriage which took place recently in Toronto when Elizabeth May Dinnick became the bride of Mr. Andrew Gordon Cantrell. The ceremony took place in Century Baptist Church with the Rev. Alexander Mackson officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Howard Dinnick, Rosedale, Toronto, and Mr. Cantrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Cantrell, 991 Portage Road, Victoria. The bride's gown was of white nylon net fashioned with full skirt and tiered shoulder cape. Matron of honor was Mrs. Harold Black, and bridesmaid for her sister was Miss Mary Dinnick. Leaving to spend a honeymoon in the Laurentians, Mrs. Cantrell chose a grey flannel suit, jacket of Chinese kid and navy accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Cantrell will make their home in Toronto.—(Photo by Ashley and Cripps.)

Couple Motor To Ontario

A ceremony at the home of the bride's parents united in marriage Winnifred Rosemae Burdge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burdge, Beckwith Avenue and John A. Butcher, son of Mrs. A. Butcher, Guelph, Ont., and the late Mr. Butcher. The Rev. H. C. Sheppard officiated.

White gladioli and colorful autumn flowers formed an attractive setting for the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Mr. Sidney Biggs played [illegible] ford sang "A Wedding Prayer."

Maid of honor was Miss Joy Burdge, while best man was Mr. Douglas Burdge.

A three-tier cake, decorated with roses, centred the refreshment table at the reception. Guests coming from out of town for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. Shatford, Misses Agnes and Rosa Chila, all of Vancouver.

After a honeymoon motor trip to Ontario, the couple will make their home in Victoria.

Coronation Fashions On View for the Queen

For the first time since she ascended the throne, Queen Elizabeth II will visit a fashion show when she attends a private view of the best models chosen from the collections of members of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers at Claridge's Hotel on November 12.

Queen Elizabeth, the Queen Mother, was the first consort of a British reigning monarch to ask a group of dressmakers to put on a dress show so that she could see the current fashions and, in this sense, it might be said that it was a Command Performance. It is obvious that Queen Elizabeth II also intends to maintain this royal interest in fashions and to assist in this way the development of the newest fabrics. In fact, an interesting development in connection with this private view for the Queen is that a number of British textile industries—that is, Manchester cotton, wool, rayon, Nottingham lace, and Irish linen and silk—will show their latest designs. Three dresses in each fabric will be displayed to the Queen, some of them with a Coronation theme which has been specially designed for the occasion.

TELLS OF TRIP

The Couples Club of the First Baptist Church met recently at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. G. R. Easter, 3505 Quadra Street.

Miss Minnie Beveridge, guest speaker, showed films and gave interesting highlights of her recent trip to the continent.

A sing song was led by Mr. Ralph Holt and Mr. H. Painter led the devotional.

Couple Wed In Vancouver

A wedding of interest in Victoria and Vancouver took place in St. John's United Church, Vancouver, when Doris Stroud, daughter of Mr. C. E. Stroud and the late Mrs. Stroud, and Harry Worsfold, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Worsfold, Vancouver, exchanged marriage vows.

Attendants were Miss Doreen Riggs, maid of honor, Mrs. Mar- [illegible] Baker; flower girls were Patsy Hollings and Gleena Holt. Best man was Mr. Lorne Nolan, and ushers were Mr. Glen Baker, Mr. Angus Harris and Mr. Johnny Campbell. Toastmaster was Mr. Frank Lavery.

Mr. and Mrs. Worsfold left for a motor trip in the Okanagan, and will reside in Vancouver when they return.

Supplies and $375 Cash Received at Pound Party

A great number of persons laden with gifts went to the B.C. Protestant Orphanage yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the annual pound party.

Gifts included close to 150 pounds of sugar, two 100-pound sacks of flour, boxes of apples and pears, approximately 125 pounds of home-made jam and bottled fruit, canned soups, vegetables and fruit, jars of peanut butter, butter, packages and tins of cookies, jelly powders, breakfast foods and canned baby food.

Cash donations, which included a $20 gift from an elderly pensioner, totalled $375.

Mrs. W. H. Luney, president of the auxiliary, Mrs. D. C. Huges, past president and Mrs. A. Barner, matron, received the guests.

The children of the orphanage were heard in program of songs arranged by Mrs. O. M. Brown.

Baskets of colorful fall flowers centred the tea table. Mrs. F. M. Shandley was in charge of tea arrangements, assisted by members of the auxiliary.

Mrs. J. King, Mrs. J. Cox, Mrs. Edwin Brown, Mrs. E. C. Cridge were in charge of receiving supplies and Mrs. F. C. Dillabaugh looked after the cash donations.

New Pledges Entertained

Members of Beta Chapter Nu Phi Mu Sorority, held an informal party at the home of their president, Miss Joan King, 2083 Dunlevy Street, to welcome new and prospective members into the group.

Miss Darlene Woodhuen, chapter counsellor and register, gave a brief outline of the sorority and its purpose. Games were played and refreshments served.

A tea will be held on Sunday, October 5, at the home of Miss Joan King, and a model meeting will be held on October 7 to give new members a preview of the sorority functions and projects.

The new pledges will be officially installed at the Founders' Day Banquet to be held on October 20 in the Century Room of the Monterey Restaurant. Guest of honor will be Miss Muriel Knight, who will speak on her recent travels in Europe.

Girl Student's Book Earns McGill Prize

MONTREAL, Oct. 2 (CP).—A young Canadian girl with a dash of Irish in her ancestry as well as a family tradition of direct descent from Cromwell has good reason to feel pleased with herself these days.

A novel of hers has not only won McGill University's Chester McNaughton prize for creative writing, but has also been accepted for publication in three countries: Canada, the United States and Britain.

The book is "Black Bass Rock," and the young author, Marianne MacDonald. This fall she enters her third year in arts at McGill, honoring in English, and meantime is working in an experimental laboratory at MacDonald College.

Miss MacDonald wouldn't hazard a guess as to how the Cromwell and the Irish got confused in her ancestry, but she has definite ideas about her future.

"I'd like to take my master's degree at McGill, and then if it can be managed, go to Cambridge to study. After that, I think I'd like a post teaching at a university," she says.

Her novel, which is scheduled to be published in November, is an adventure mystery story designed for boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 14 years.

She started the book when she was 11 years old and finished it at 17 after three revisions.

"I decided to become a writer when I was eight," she smiled. "I wrote a couple of other books before this one but I threw them out."

5 CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. Grace Powell wishes to thank the [illegible] sympathy in relation to the passing of a gallant heart. Special thanks to Dr. Vincent Smith and Mr. J. Cuddeore for their kindness.

6 IN MEMORIAM

ALEXANDER—In loving memory of Fred Alexander, who died October 3, 1950.

The face I loved is now laid low,
His loving voice is still,
The hand so often clasped in mine
Lies now in death's cold chill.
I often sit and think of him
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

—From his loving wife, daughter and sons.

FISHER—In loving memory of [illegible] who passed away one year ago today.

Love's greatest gift, Remembrance.

Always will be remembered by Jim, Lil and boys.

OAK BAY SECLUSION
THREE BEDROOMS
OIL-O-MATIC

Set amidst delightful oaks, stone's throw from the sea and buses, near schools and golf course, two and one-half miles from City Hall with entry to the property from two streets is this very charming bungalow that was very solidly built.

Entrance hall, living room with fireplace, dining room—all have golden oak floors. Large cabinet kitchen wired for range is the housewife's and mother's delight. All kitchen surfaces covered in ARBORITE. Plenty of cupboards, a separate back porch entrance for the children and lots of room for a very pleasant breakfast nook. Two large bedrooms and bathroom—completes the main floor.

Upstairs there is one more bedroom with separate plumbing.

Basement is high cement and houses the OIL-O-MATIC air-conditioned furnace with direct entry into the garden. Separate well-built garage entered from back lane through which you enter a completely secluded and very delightful back garden in lawn and rose bushes and trees—so well planned as to require a minimum of attention. Terraced front garden with trees and shrubs lend a country atmosphere and appearance.

The entire house, OUTSIDE and INSIDE, has been redecorated, floors refinished and all heating units renovated.

We will be pleased to show this home by appointment, to the most discriminating buyers.

WHERE ON EARTH
IS THE WORLD'S BIGGEST SALT CELLAR?

In Barahona, in the Dominican Republic, "pass the salt" is an expression used more often than at any boarding house table. The reason? There's a lot more salt to pass. A 10-mile long, 1-mile wide and 250 feet deep block. In fact! Nature was unusually generous at Las Salinas in the southwest province of Barahona where the giant quarry is located. The salt deposits cover the north side of a hill and a billion-ton gypsum deposit lies on the south side. For generations Dominicans have been slowly hacking away at the salt block with pneumatic drills, extracting only 15,000 tons a year. As a result of a government survey in 1951, $3,400,000 has been invested in modern machinery to increase the salt output to 1,000,000 tons annually. To finance this project, millions of Dominicans invested in "Cerro de Sal," the fruitful quarries. Their money has bought automatic mining and conveyor machinery, portable cranes, a railroad and harbor facilities. When this modern equipment begins to function in 1953, "Cerro de Sal" will start slimming down at the rate of a million tons each year. For generations to come, people the world over will be filling their salt shakers with seasoning from Barahona's gigantic quarry. Bring on the celery!

FARM
INVESTORS NOTE!

Excellent farm of approximately 300 plus acres with approximately 200 acres cleared and under cultivation. Many good outbuildings including barn, three sheds, hay sheds, pig pens and dairy, also good four-room cottage. Main house comprising large living room with fireplace, large dining room, den, four bedrooms, double plumbing, kitchen, hot-water heat and full basement. Cleared acreage today costs at least $200 per acre at least, which would place the value of the cleared land at least $40,000. Due to the fact that this farm must be immediately sold, owner would take $30,000 or offer for everything with very low terms. This is a golden opportunity for an investor to make a large capital gain. For full particulars contact J. M. Cavanagh or K. R. Lim, evenings E 4823 or B 5065.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "TENDER FOR WHARF REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS, LYALL HARBOUR, B.C." will be received in the office of the Secretary until 3:00 p.m. (E.S.T.), WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1952.

Plans, form of contract and specification can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of the Chief Engineer, Department of Public Works, Ottawa, or the office of the District Engineer, Post Office Building, New Westminster, B.C., and at the Post Offices at Victoria, Vancouver and Saturna Island, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on printed forms supplied by the Department and in accordance with conditions set forth therein.

Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque on a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works, or Bearer Bonds as specified in the form of tender, for 10% of the amount of the tender.

NOTE: Upon application to the undersigned, the Department will supply blueprints and specification of the work on deposit of a sum of $20.00 in the form of a certified bank cheque payable to the order of the Minister of Public Works. The deposit will be released on the return of the blue-prints and specification within a month from the date of reception of tenders. If not returned within that period the deposit will be forfeited.

ROBERT FORTIER
Acting Secretary

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, September 25, 1952.

Scouts, Cubs of Victoria Rank Among Best-Dressed

"British Columbia, and especially Victoria Scouts, take second place to no other city in the matter of smart uniforms," George Ferguson, executive commissioner for stores at Canadian Boy Scout headquarters in Ottawa, said last night.

Mr. Ferguson is currently making a tour of the western provinces where he is calling on the agency stores and meeting gatherings of Scouters and those interested in scouting.

He addressed a meeting of Victoria Scouters at the Victoria Boy Scout headquarters last night on "better uniforming."

Mr. Ferguson, who has been associated with Scout work for 32 years, announced there was no expected change in the style of Scout dress for some time.

"The basic Boy Scout uniform is still the same as was first designed by Lord Baden Powell," he said. He added that various countries were adopting different colored shirts.

"Some two years ago, the Canadian organization agreed to dispense with grey, blue and khaki in favor of green. At least 75 per cent of the Boy Scouts are now wearing the new color and by the end of the year almost 100 per cent will be wearing the standardized uniform," he said.

The number of Scouts in Canada continues to grow at a satisfactory pace. There are now nearly 140,000 Cubs and Scouts, which is the largest number Canada has ever had, Mr. Ferguson reported.

"The movement on the whole was never as healthy," he said, "and the interest shown by the general public is outstanding."

Mr. Ferguson started the Boy Scout supply department in 1921 and since then it has grown to be the largest mail order business in the city of Ottawa.

The business functions through 50 agency stores located in the large cities of Canada.

Mr. Ferguson leaves for a swing through the Prairies tomorrow [illegible] which he will visit Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg. He will return to Ontario by way of Chicago and will then tour the cities in western Ontario.

Fire Officials To Study Plans

A special meeting of the fire chiefs committee to complete plans for the fighting of fires after an air raid will be held in the Langford fire hall at 8 p.m. October 14.

After the meeting, an exercise will be held to test plans made. The meeting will be attended by fire chiefs from Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Saanich and the volunteer brigades of View Royal, Langford and Colwood.

Civil defense director L. G. Hatcher and training officer P. L. Sampson will also attend.

Money Reform Prophesied By Minister

Monetary reform throughout Canada was prophesied by B.C. Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan at a meeting of the View Royal Social Credit organization last night.

Speaking to a full house, Mr. Kiernan said the only hope for monetary reform would be on a country-wide basis, and the hope of a strong Social Credit bid at the next federal election was now high.

He explained the monetary reform, or fourth principle of Social Credit, and stressed the need for a Social Credit government in Ottawa to implement this principle.

Mr. Kiernan was introduced to the members of the organization by President William Falk.

Mrs. Lydia Arsens, a contender for one of the Victoria seats at the June 12 election, gave a short address in which she extended the best wishes of the Victoria group to the members of View Royal.

Testimony Of Youth Due Today

Edward James Minnie, 23, of no fixed address, was remanded until today to present his own defence on a charge of creating a disturbance "by impeding or incommoding other persons" on Yates Street last Saturday night. He had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Constable James Baxter told court he had seen the accused and three other youths loitering about the Topper Cafe, and had told them to "move along."

Shortly after, he testified, he saw the same group hanging around another section of the block. Three of the young men "moved along" but accused did not.

The constable said the accused had stated, "No bull is going to stop me from walking up Yates Street." It was then that Minnie was arrested and taken to the police station.

ACCUSED OF LYING

Given an opportunity to ask the constable questions, Minnie claimed he (the constable) was "sitting there lying."

"Why did you pick on me?" Minnie asked.

"The others moved on," replied Constable Baxter.

"I differ with you," retorted the accused.

Roy Knowles, one of the trio accompanying Minnie on the evening in question, said he and his friends were not impeding pedestrians on the sidewalk when the constable approached the group.

He said the constable had asked Minnie, "Why aren't you in Chinatown ... you have no right to be on Yates Street among respectable people."

Then, continued Knowles, the constable told Minnie "I'll run you in," and Minnie had asked, "On what charge?"

SHOULDER SEIZED

Knowles said the constable then replied to Minnie: "I'll soon show you."

With that, Knowles continued, "The constable grabbed Jimmy (the accused) by the shoulder and pushed him into a newsstand on Yates near Douglas."

Once again Minnie asked the constable why he had been singled out, Knowles recalled, and the constable had replied: "Because I hate your guts."

Further evidence, dealing with activities of Minnie and his associates last Saturday evening, was presented by Roy L. Connibear, a friend of the accused.

Fire Policy Entered as Evidence

A recently-signed fire insurance policy was entered as evidence during a preliminary hearing of an attempted arson charge against 68-year-old John William Ellington of 2106 Blanshard Street, in city police court yesterday morning.

Ellington originally was charged with arson. Yesterday the charge was changed to one of attempted arson. He pleaded not guilty.

Magistrate H. C. Hall has committed the accused for trial in a higher court.

Ellington was charged with the offense following a fire in his room at 2106 Blanshard on the afternoon of September 25.

James Bayliss, acting deputy chief for the Victoria Fire Department, told the court his department had received the alarm to attend the fire at 4.43 p.m. Firemen were at the scene within two minutes, he said.

Upon forcing entry into the locked room, Mr. Bayliss stated, he and accompanying firemen found there were seven separate fires burning in scattered points of the 10 by 12-foot room.

The fires, in all cases, had apparently been started with bunches of a grass or hay-like substance, he said. He identified various exhibits of grass or hay that had been taken from the room.

George Smith, owner of the Blanshard Street rooming house, testified that the accused had recently purchased, for $50, practically all the furniture in the room.

Called to the witness stand, city insurance man Harry Warren Sparks said on August 14 the accused had taken out a fire insurance policy for $700 on his furniture.

Mr. Sparks entered as an exhibit a document described as a direct duplicate of the fire insurance policy which had been taken out by Ellington.

Ellington looked at the copy of the policy and claimed a portion of the duplicate, including printed conditions of the policy, was not the same as the original of the policy which he possessed.

Detective Alex Briggs told court of investigations that had been made in the accused's room immediately after the fire. He added that Ellington had been picked up several hours later at the home of a friend in Cordova Bay.

Another tenant of the rooming house said she had seen Ellington in the upstairs hallway of the premises "about 4.30 p.m." on the day of the fire. He had come up the stairs and was apparently heading for his room at the time, she said.

Several photographs taken by Constable Harold Gollmer, and showing fire damage to various pieces of furniture and sections of Ellington's room, were entered as exhibits.

"I'm innocent of the charge. I don't know anything about it," said Ellington. He claimed he was out of the rooming house at the time of the fire.

He said detectives had "grilled" him until about 1 a.m. the next morning "trying to force me to admitting I was guilty. I asked for a lie detector, but the police would not let me have one," the accused stated.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

Uncle Wiggily, with his camera ready to take pictures of the two bears, heard a rustling noise in the bushes. He twinkled his pink nose and bravely shouted:

"Come out of those bushes so I can shoot you!"

The rabbit gentleman didn't mean that he was really going to shoot the bears, or shoot anyone with a gun. He meant that he was going to take their pictures with his camera. That is called "shooting" a picture.

"Come out of those bushes so I can shoot you!" called Uncle Wiggily again. "You are runaway bears and I am not afraid of you! Come out!"

"I will come out all right, but I am not a runaway bear," spoke a jolly voice. Then out of the bushes stepped Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"Why! Why! Eh! Um! Ah!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't expect to see you, Nurse Jane. Why are you hiding in that mulberry bush?"

"I wasn't hiding in the mulberry bush," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy as she jiggled her long tail on which was tied a red ribbon. "I was just down to Mr. Pat Butter's grocery store to get some lollipops for supper. I took a short cut through the woods and came out back of this mulberry bush. Then you came along with your camera."

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "This is a jolly mistake. I thought surely you were the two bears. But, since you are here, Nurse Jane, I think I ought to take your picture. It will be practice for me."

"All right, take my picture if you want to," agreed Nurse Jane. "But please hurry as I want to get back in the bungalow and put the lollipops on to cook."

"Cook lollipops!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "I didn't know you cooked lollipops."

"I am not exactly going to cook them," explained Nurse Jane. "I am going to use them to flavor a carrot cake I am going to bake for supper. I shall also put in some jelly beans."

"That sounds very jolly," spoke Uncle Wiggily as he got his camera ready. "Now I will take your picture, Nurse Jane. It will be practice for me when I find the runaway bears and take their pictures."

"Do you think you will find those runaway bears?" asked Nurse Jane. She flipped her tail around in front so the red ribbon would show. And she held the basket of lollipops and jelly beans at her side so it would also show in the picture.

"Oh, I will find those bears all right!" declared Mr. Longears. He pointed his camera at Nurse Jane. He looked in the finder.

"Steady, now!" warned the rabbit gentleman. "I am going to press the shutter jigger and shoot the picture. Steady!" Nurse Jane stood without moving. Then she asked

"Have you taken my picture yet?"

"Not yet," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I want you to smile a little. A picture with a smile always looks better. Smile, Nurse Jane!"

Nurse Jane smiled. Uncle Wiggily did something to the camera and then he said:

"I have your picture, Nurse Jane. You may run along back in the bungalow and start making the carrot cake with lollipops and jelly beans for flavor."

"Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?" inquired Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I am going to hop down to the drug store," the rabbit gentleman replied. "I am going to ask Dr. Possum to develop and print this picture of you. Then I can show it to you this evening."

"Why don't you wait until you have taken the pictures of the two bears, and some other pictures in your camera?" asked Nurse Jane. "Why have Dr. Possum develop and print just one picture on the roll of film?"

"I want to see how your picture comes out," said Uncle Wiggily. "I need some practice before I shoot the two bears. I will see how your picture comes out."

"I hope it is all right," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I am sure it will be," said Uncle Wiggily. He hopped toward Dr. Possum's drug store. Nurse Jane hopped to the hollow stump bungalow. And something happened.

If you're a sportsman who doesn't mind reaching a grand slam that requires a finesse for the king of trumps, you won't find fault with this bidding. But if you are one who likes to delve into the mathematics of his bets (and bidding is a kind of betting that you will win a certain number of tricks) you know that you are giving approximately two-to-one odds on an even money chance. You are betting 980 points (180 for tricks, 500 for small slam, and the 300 point value of the game), against an additional 500 point bonus awarded for bidding a grand slam. To make such a bet, you should have at least a two-to-one chance that your bid will be successful.

The fault in this bidding was North's jump to four hearts. Afterwards, the Blackwood Four-Five No trump bids showed that North had two aces and only two kings, but South felt sure that the double-raise in hearts meant the king of hearts must be one of them. This was a quite reasonable assumption; for his enthusiastic raise North should have had more stuff in the trump suit itself. It is a common mistake for players to overstate the quality of their raises in an effort to indicate the quantity value they assign to the combined hands.

However, if you are on the side of North-South this is a story with a happy ending. The finesse was wrong, but South didn't take it. He won the diamond opening with dummy's king and led the ten of hearts through East. When that worthy went into a momentary consultation with himself and then played low, South was in no doubt of the right play. He banged down his ace. He couldn't tell that West's king was blank, of course, but he did know one thing: East didn't have it.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Exert personality; go places; win recognition. However, avoid misunderstandings, inharmony.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Get on the trail of required aid and current dilemmas, find the answers.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Attract attention and good will. See friends. Don't mix money matters and friendship.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Keep your feet on the ground. Make safe progress re business, employment.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo)—Push your plans toward fulfillment, resolve issues; but keep clear of involvements.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—Arrive at agreements or fortify savings. Shun impracticality, waste.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Do not push affairs depending upon an O.K. or an assist from others. Be tactful. Avoid confusion.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio)—Let tasks at hand top your agenda today. Recheck facts, figures, get things straight.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—Try to see events and individuals in proper focus. See dear ones. Avoid risks.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn)—Be primed for happenings linked with home, office, or kin. Solve problems.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius)—Keep busy but don't bet on your sagacity. Double check judgment.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Grasp chances for minor profits, commercial progress, but don't be taken in. Recheck possessions, count change.

Planning ahead—Good for entertaining, sociability, etc. October 5, 6, 7, 8.

Sidney Wins Battle For Incorporation

A 15-year battle for the incorporation of Sidney as a village was won this week.

Endorsement of the corporation of Sidney as a village was given by the provincial cabinet on Tuesday, and an order-in-council signed by Lieutenant-Governor existence of "The Corporation of the Village of Sidney," made public Wednesday night by Municipal Affairs Minister W. D. Black.

A commission has been appointed by the government to carry out the affairs of the village until the first annual election in December.

Appointed to the commission are five men who have been active in the corporation proceedings during the past 15 years: James Johnston White, retired; Harry Michael Tobin, immigration executive; Harold Fox, merchant; George Louis Baal, retired; George Arthur Gardner, Sidney fire chief.

First acts of the commission will be to appoint a chairman and a village clerk to carry out village business for the coming three months.

In the December election, any adult property-owner within the village who is a British subject may seek office. All property-owners within the village will be elegible to vote.

MIXED REACTION

First reactions to the corporation have been mixed. Some residents fear the raising of taxes through the move, but those in favor see improvements in the matters of sidewalks, drainage, lighting, road work and sewers.

The area of the village is approximately 234 acres of land and 142 acres of water. A full official description of it reads:

"The area bounded on the south by Ocean Avenue and Ocean Avenue produced seaward 1,000 feet, on the west by Eighth Avenue, Seventh Avenue and Marine Drive; on the north by Amelia Avenue and Amelia Avenue produced seaward 1,000 feet and on the east by a line 1,000 feet distant from the shoreline back to a point of com

The newly-incorporated village already boasts a village hall.

The First Street courthouse has been given to the village as a gift by the provincial government.

The overwhelming tasks of preparing by-laws, setting up a village staff and preparing for the December election will be the lot of the commissioners for the next three months.

VILLAGE HISTORY

Sidney's history as one of the largest unincorporated villages in the province extends back 60 years to when it was first settled.

During the war the village outgrew itself and the first steps were taken by its citizens to have it incorporated, but the campaign bogged down in political red tape.

Another campaign to have Sidney incorporated was begun about four years ago, but because of the government opposition encountered, the campaign was dropped.

After more years of steady growth, another committee was formed and under Major S. S. Penny, Sidney barrister, and H. Fox, surveys were taken of the village and petitions were drawn up for the signing of property owners.

The petitions were circulated and signed by 60 per cent of the property owners and 80 per cent of the non-property owners.

The application was ratified by the cabinet this week and signed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

Thorough Canvass Pledged

Victoria's current Red Feather campaign will be continued until every home in the area has been bute to the Red Feather charities.

Following a special meeting yesterday, Ralph B. Mathews, co-chairman of the campaign, said, "We won't be satisfied with anything less than a 100 per cent canvass."

"The Community Chest campaign will continue until every resident has been visited by a Red Feather canvasser," he emphasized.

The campaign was originally scheduled to finish Saturday.

Some directors pointed out that the apparent lag in returns was not exactly an accurate picture. They said many canvassers were retaining money already collected until they had completed the canvass of addresses allotted to them.

This factor could mean a jump in totals in the next few days.

LOUTH, England (CP) — Arthur and Jimmy Watson, 78-year-old brothers, recently met for the first time in seven years and Arthur decided to join Jimmy in an old folks' home. Arthur was killed by a truck as he went to mail his application form.

Exploding Tar Sends Father, Child to Hospital

An explosion that filled a kitchen with flame and scalding tar, put a man and his four-year-old son in hospital last night, severely burned.

Ted Stefanek, 31, of 847 Selkirk, and his four-year-old son Clifford, are in St. Joseph's Hospital with face and body burns after a can of asphalt that was being softened in the oven

Also in the room at the time were Mrs. Doris Stefanek, Elaine Stefanek, 13, and Fred Traynor, 10. All three escaped injury.

Stefanek, who had just returned from work, had apparently put the can of asphalt in the open oven of the stove to soften for work he intended to do later in the evening.

His wife was standing at the side of the stove preparing supper and the children were also in the room when one of them noticed smoke curling up from the can.

USED SPADE

In an attempt to get the smoking container outside, Stefanek tried to lift it from the over with a spade, but as he moved it the contents exploded, filling the room with flame and hot tar, badly burning him about the face and hands and burning the little boy.

A neighbor, George Gilbert, 858 Selkirk, was approaching the house as the can burst into flame and witnessed the explosion.

"I was approaching the house just as Elaine opened the door to the oven, with the spade," he said. "The next thing I saw was a sheet of flame that completely filled the room and heard a shattering explosion that seemed to shake the whole house."

"I ran in and helped as many out as I could and then phoned for the city fire department."

By that time, Gilbert said, other neighbors had arrived, alarmed by the blast. Someone telephoned for the Esquimalt fire department and the police.

NEIGHBORS HELP

Neighbors rushed the whole family to the hospital, and by the time Esquimalt firemen arrived, about three minutes after the call, one witness estimated, the room was filled with thick black smoke and flame.

Tar-coated glasses belonging to Ted Stefanek were found on the floor, and witnesses who saw him being led from the house, covered with the sticky boiling mass, credited the glasses with saving his sight.

"His face was just covered with the stuff," one man said.

The little boy, Clifford, also spattered with drops of the hot asphalt, is being treated for body burns.

Three sides of the room were covered with a myriad of black spots of the tar, and food standing on the sideboard was filled with specks of hardened tar.

The ceiling was completely blackened by the initial blast and smoke, and every piece of furniture in the kitchen was sprayed with a fine coat of black tar.

The inside of the oven was lined with a thick coating of still-warm tar and a section of the burned.

Quick response from the Esquimalt firemen prevented the fire from spreading to the rest of the home.

Condition of Stefanek and his son was given as fair by hospital authorities last night.

Judgment Held In Habitual Case

The B.C. Court of Appeal has reserved judgment in the case of Lloyd Brusch, 34, of Vancouver, down earlier this year of being an habitual criminal.

The appeal concluded after two days of argument. Brusch was represented in Appeal Court by John Farris, Q.C., and Lorne Jackson was acting for the Crown.

OSLO (CP) — A joint industrial group has announced an extensive research problem to learn the most effective ways of preventing rust. Seven control stations will be set up in various parts of Norway to test preventives on steel plates under varying weather conditions.
